INVASION OF MONGOLIA IS DISTURBING

Japanese and Manchukuan Troops Reported Responsible for Killings

MOSCOW KEEPING A CLOSE WATCH

MOSCOW, Dec. 19 (P).—Invasion of the Mongolian People's Republic by 200 Japanese and Manchukuan troops and the killing of a Mongolian officer and several soldiers were reported from Ulan Bator, Mongolia, to the official Tass News Agency tonight.

The reported invasion was said to have occurred this morning at Bulun Derron, southeast of Lake Buir. Yesterday a truckload of soldiers was forced back across the Manchukuan border by border guards, the dispatch stated.

WITH MACHINE GUNS
Ordered to avoid fighting at all costs, the Mongolians retreated before the invaders today, but the latter were reported to have sprayed them with machine-gun fire regardless.

Soviet officials did not comment on the clash, but foreign watchers were convinced they were watching the situation closely. Japanese occupation of Outer Mongolia, these persons said, would put Japan within striking distance of the actual Soviet border.

FOUND GUILTY AND MUST DIE

Leo Hall Convicted of Mass Murder at Erland's Point, Washington

PORT ORCHARD, Wash., Dec. 19 (P).—Death for husky Leo Hall, thirty-three, ex-pugilist and one-time student for the priesthood at Brockville, Ont., was recommended today by a jury that convicted him of the Erland's Point mass murder of six persons in March, 1934.

Accused was blonde Peggy Peterson Paulos, co-defendant, whose signed statement caused Hall's arrest two months ago. Her testimony formed the basis of the state's case.

SMILES AT VERDICT
Hall, openly defiant during preliminary stages of his prosecution, smiled quietly as he heard the verdict. His lawyers said a new trial would be sought.

Mrs. Paulos and Hall were charged specifically with the murder of Eugene Chenevert—one of six persons beaten, hacked and shot to death at a party in the Frank Flieder home at Erland's Point, Wash., the night of March 28, 1934.

Mrs. Paulos testified Hall forced her to accompany him to Erland's Point on a robbery venture, and that she helped him bind the six persons in the Flieder home. She said she fled, however, when fighting started.

THE VICTIMS
The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Flieder, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Chenevert, Mrs. Jordan and Fred Bolcom. Mrs. Chenevert was from Fredericton, N.B.

Judge H. G. Sutton did not set a date for pronouncing the mandatory death sentence.

Ellsworth Search Plane Delivered After Long Flight

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 19 (P).—Reports from Rio Gallegos, near the extreme southern tip of South America, said tonight that Dick Merrill and William Klenke, American pilots flying a plane from the United States, arrived late this afternoon and delivered the ship to Sir Hubert Wilkins for a search for Lincoln Ellsworth, missing explorer.

REPORTS ARE CONFLICTING

Deadlock Is General Impression of Results of Fighting in Ethiopia

ADDIS ABABA, Dec. 19 (CP-Havas).—The outcome of the savage three-day Italo-Ethiopian battle near the Takaze River and of another clash northwest of Makale were obscured by contradictory reports in Addis Ababa tonight. The general impression was that the positions of both forces were deadlocked despite a heavy loss of life.

TO BREAK UP WING

INCREASE SEEN IN ISLAND COAL

November Tonnage Shows Gain of Nearly 7,000 Tons On Vancouver Island

Vancouver Island coal production for November showed a gain of approximately 7,000 tons more than in the corresponding month last year. Provincial reports disclosed yesterday. The output for the month was 58,633 long tons, compared with 51,717 tons in November, 1934.

Production for the province as a whole was 117,531, nearly the same as for the same month a year ago. The figures included substantial gains at Combsmont and Blue Flame Collieries in the Nicola district, and at Michel in East Kootenay, with some losses elsewhere.

Coke produced at Michel amounted to 3,233 tons for the month, a considerable increase over totals in preceding months of this year.

Cash Donations Are Urgently Needed in Gyro Hamper Drive

Local Residents Are Requested to Aid Needy of Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt—Time Is Growing Short

WITH less than a week to go the Gyro Club Christmas Hamper Fund yesterday totaled $3,425, an amount far short of the objective of $6,000. An urgent appeal for more cash donations was issued by club officials to insure the success of the drive.

This year the Gyros plan to send out nearly 1,200 hampers to needy residents of Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt. Increased living costs have forced prices of goods above 1934, and the club is faced with the necessity of sending out over a hundred more hampers than last year.

COST INCREASED

Waldo Skilling, Jr., president of the club, yesterday pointed out that eggs were up ten cents per dozen over the 1934 cost, and on 1,000 dozen eggs, which the Gyros must supply, the added burden amounts to $100 in cash.

GOVERNMENT UPHOLD AFTER ERROR ADMITTED BY LEADER

Premier Declares Anglo-French Proposals Dead Beyond Revival

SIR SAMUEL HOARE GIVES EXPLANATION

LONDON, Dec. 19 (P).—The Government was upheld by a large majority in the House of Commons tonight after a twelve-hour debate, in which the unsuccessful Franco-British peace proposals were subjected to a vigorous attack and Prime Minister Baldwin admitted an error had been made in handling the situation.

A Labor motion of censure was defeated, 397-185. An amendment to the motion, moved by Lord Winter-ton, Conservative, was carried, 390 to 165. This amendment was then adopted as a substantive motion without division and the House adjourned shortly before midnight.

ACKNOWLEDGES ERROR

Mr. Baldwin acknowledged he had erred in handling the situation arising when the terms of the Franco-British proposals for halting the

RESTORING PART OF SALARY CUTS

Ontario Government Eliminating All or Part of Civil Servants' Deductions

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (P).—The Ontario Government, through order-in-council signed today by Premier Hepburn, eliminated deductions on all civil servants' salaries of $1,000 or less and halved the deductions on higher salaries.

The ruling restoring decreases made in 1931, applies to January cheques, but will have no bearing on December salaries, already paid. The deduction on salaries of $1,000 and under was 2 per cent. Other deductions are on a sliding scale upward, with the maximum 20 per cent on salaries from $6,000 to $10,000.

RETURN TO HOMES

Most delegations left Geneva tonight bound homeward for a rest during the Christmas period. The Russians and the Danes led the opposition to the Franco-British plan in today's private discussion, after a moment when all sat silent, hesitating to pronounce the first words of condemnation.

It was evident from the outset, however, that the plan had not the faintest chance of acceptance.

With the plan also dies the Franco-British effort at conciliation. Premier Laval himself recognized that the mandate received by the British and French Governments is now terminated.

FRANCE BALANCES HER 1936 BUDGET

PARIS, Dec. 19 (P).—France's 1936 budget was approved by the Chamber of Deputies tonight. Totaling $4,431,074,137 francs (approximately $2,625,864,450), it is France's first paper-balanced budget in years, and it now faces Senate approval.

The ordinary budget voted tonight was in addition to a 6,000,000,000-franc extraordinary arms appropriation adopted last week.

EDMONTON, Dec. 19 (P).—Major C. H. Douglas, British economist and founder of Social Credit principles and special reconstruction adviser to the Alberta Government, was instructed by the Provincial Government today to come to Edmonton as early as possible in January.

"Come here not later than January 6," said the cablegram sent to him after a Cabinet session. Premier Aberhart explained that this message was meant to instruct Major Douglas to leave England not later than that date.

FERRY GROUNDS IN HEAVY FOG

Passengers Taken Off Son-risa Fast on Shoals at Vancouver Narrows

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19 (P).—The West Vancouver ferry, Son-risa, which ran aground on Calamity shoals in First Narrows during a heavy fog, with seventy passengers aboard, was pulled off late tonight by the power tug Helac II.

Ferry officials stated the vessel suffered no damage and will resume service tomorrow.

The vessel ran aground when the tide was falling and early efforts to get off under her own power only wedged her more firmly in the sand. A full load of passengers were marooned aboard the stranded vessel until a series of whistle signals attracted the attention of the Bonnaville, about an hour and a half later.

SIGNAL NOT WORKING

Ferry officials stated the fog signal on Calamity shoals in First Narrows, where the accident occurred, was not working at the time.

After efforts to back the vessel off under her own power had failed, the Pacific Salvage Company's power tug Helac II was called.

The Son-risa, smallest of the three West Vancouver ferry boats, was said to have suffered no damage from the accident. A report the vessel was leaking badly was denied by ferry officials.

Prime Minister Announces Blanket Increase for Winter Months in Federal Aid to Unemployed

—Assurance Must Be Given by Provinces That Benefits Will Be Passed On

Unemployment Recognized as Responsibility of Dominion

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (CP).—In order that municipalities may be relieved of a large measure of the burden of direct relief costs, the monthly grants in aid to the provinces from the Federal Treasury have been subjected to a flat increase of 75 per cent, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced tonight.

Monthly payments have been made to the provinces since August, 1934, at the annual rate of $1,751,250. These have been increased to $3,065,687, effective for the months of December, January, February and March. Undertakings will be required from the provinces that they will assist the municipalities as may be necessary, and that the money will be administered without discrimination as to race, religion or politics.

MAYOR GIVES CITY'S VIEW

Welcomes Dominion Aid but Declares Much More Is Needed

"Naturally I welcome any relief given municipalities and cities in connection with the cost of unemployment relief, but until such time as land and improvements are freed entirely of unemployment relief costs there is no hope of taking one dollar off the tax on property," Mayor David Leeming stated last night when commenting upon Prime Minister Mackenzie King's announcement with regard to the unemployment question.

The Prime Minister announced that the Federal Government would increase by 75 per cent its contribution to the cost of unemployment relief, and instructed the Provincial Governments to pass this relief on to the municipalities to the fullest extent.

"At the present time the city's share of unemployment relief amounts to approximately $105,000," the Mayor explained. "However, until such time as the Provincial Government is brought to a realization that it must remove the burden of unemployment, education and hospitalization from the shoulders of property-owners, we cannot long survive."

Removal of these three services from municipal taxation would merely place Victoria in the position whereby it could balance its budget honestly, the Mayor continued.

Murder Verdict on Sidney Slaying Is Brought In by Jury

Son Tells Coroner's Court He Saw His Father, John Horatio Booth, Shoot His Mother With Shotgun in Family Home

FOLLOWING the hearing of evidence, concerning the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Booth, thirty-eight years old, a coroner's jury, yesterday morning, returned a formal verdict of murder.

John Horatio Booth, husband of the slain woman, was present at the inquiry and heard his son tell the jury that he saw him fire the fatal shot, following a quarrel in the family home at Sidney early last Tuesday morning.

Fourteen-year-old Everett Booth, told the court that, following a quarrel between his parents, he saw his father load a shotgun, go to wards his mother, who was lying on the bedroom floor, wounded by a previous shot, and fire a second shot. The boy said he heard the first shot, but did not see it fired because he was in the dining-room. He also told of his fierce fight with the father for possession of the gun, following the first shot.

Everett said he was awakened

Ford Motor Company Makes Proposals to Change Tariff Rules

Complete Revision and Simplification Recommended to Board—Chairman Thinks Company Generous to Itself—Objections Made

OTTAWA, Dec. 19.—Complete revision and simplification of all tariff and regulations affecting motor cars and motor car parts was proposed to the Tariff Board today by the Ford Motor Company of Canada.

A series of definite proposals for tariff revision presented by W. R. Campbell, president of the company, involved maintenance of the tariff on cars under $1,200 in value at 20 per cent and reduction of tariffs on all cars to that level. The present general tariff on such cars is 30 per cent and the intermediate 17-1/2 per cent.

PROPOSED EQUAL RATES
The Ford proposal is that the intermediate and general rates be made the same, 20 per cent. For cars of more than $1,200 in value the proposal is a reduction of the present general rate of 30 per cent and intermediate of 22-1/2 per cent to a common rate of 20 per cent.

Maintenance of the present excise duty on imported cars, from which Canadian-made cars are exempt, was proposed. Under the United States trade treaty the tax would drop to 3 per cent, which is also a tax on Canadian-made cars. The Ford proposal would abolish this 3-per cent tax. The plan also involved continuance of the present practice of fixing the value for duty of imported cars at not less than the list price in the country of origin less 20 per cent discount.

TO LIMIT SPREAD
Coupled with its tariff proposals the Ford Company suggested a means of limiting the spread between the price at which cars sell in Canada and the United States to not more than 25 per cent. The brief stated that the spread at present on low-priced cars ranged from 27-1/2 to 40 per cent and estimated that a regulation would mean price reductions ranging from $15 to $112.50 on low-priced cars.

"Such price reductions," the brief stated, "would not be practicable at the present time unless offset by lower costs of production and distribution. It is believed, however, that they could be met by a combination of the following:

REDUCED ALLOWANCES
"Reduction of duties and taxes on parts, materials and equipment purchased by manufacturers as recommended;

"Reduction of allowances for used cars, which would necessarily occur in consequence of lower trading margins on new cars;

"Reduction in expenditures on advertising and sales promotion which, under the influence of competition, have become in some respects excessive."

Even with reductions in duties and taxes, however, the Ford Company submitted, Canadian manufacturers could not expect to equal unit cost of production and distribution in the United States with the present volume of Canadian business. The best solution was to recognize the differential in price and the maximum differential of 25 per cent would be possible only if the cost was jointly borne by manufacturers, user-carriers, retailers and the Federal Government.

DISCIPLINARY ACTION
Establishment of the maximum price spread would be effected by revisions of section 17 of the Customs Tariff Act in which the principle of disciplinary action against a producer taking undue advantage of the tariff protection is embodied. This section authorizes the Governor-in-Council to remove the duty in such case or impose a special excise duty equivalent to the amount of customs duty which would be payable if the goods were imported under the general tariff. The changes suggested would make the section applicable to importers as well as manufacturers and would introduce another alternative authorizing imposition of an excise duty equivalent to the difference between the malpriced price and the prices the Governor-in-Council deems should prevail.

Free entry would be granted all automobile parts not made in Canada and a uniform duty of 25 per cent would be imposed on parts made in Canada if less than 50 per cent of the factory cost of production of the finished car is incurred in Canada, a duty of 20 per cent if 50 to 66-2/3 per cent of such cost is incurred in Canada and free entry if more than 66-2/3 per cent of the factory cost is incurred in Canada.

ELIMINATE DRAWBACKS
The Ford proposals involved elimination of all the present drawbacks allowed manufacturers on duties paid on imported parts. It stated that this step, together with changed Canadian content requirements, would compensate firms manufacturing automobile parts for lowered duties on parts made in Canada and extension of the free list of parts. Materials used in further processing articles used in the repair of cars would be admitted free.

Chairman George H. Sedgewick said the Ford company was very generous to itself in the proposed treatment of imported parts and materials at the expense of other producers in Canada. Mr. Campbell said the proposals were those which the company was prepared to support and were based on its own experience. It would not subscribe to any other suggestions concerning the effect of which, it did not have full knowledge.

ON WHOLE PRODUCTION
Canadian content would be calculated on the whole of factory production.

TELLS ABOUT REGINA RIOT
Former Attorney-General of Saskatchewan Appears Before Inquiry

REGINA, Dec. 19.—Col. J. A. Cross, Regina lawyer and former Attorney-General of Saskatchewan, sat down at home shortly after midnight following Regina's Dominion Day rioting and made a memorandum of what he witnessed from a fourth-story window of a downtown building.

This afternoon Col. Cross went into the witness stand at the riot inquiry and, refreshing his memory from his memorandum, added details of the riot hitherto not described at the inquiry.

These new details included:
A barrier of two automobiles was thrown across Scarth Street; City police fired revolvers, apparently into the air, to clear the Twelfth Avenue-Scarth Street intersection.

MADE BRIEF STAND
Civilians, whom Col. Cross described as "The On-to-Ottawa crowd," made a brief stand against Royal Canadian Mounted Police on horses at that corner.

Col. Cross was one of four witnesses this afternoon. Others were Ernest G. Baugh, driver of an ambulance the night of July 1; William F. Haddrell, proprietor of a confectionery store of which the windows were broken during the riot; and Joseph Slavick, railway section foreman at Richardson, Sask., who was shot through the hand and leg.

Counsel, on invitation of the commission, presented arguments on the question whether the inquiry should move to Vancouver to take evidence.

MAY GO TO VANCOUVER
Chief Justice J. T. Brown, chairman, ruled there were some matters requiring investigation, which would have to be looked into further. "It may be we will find it less expensive to go than to bring witnesses here," he said.

Wishing to make as possible, within the terms of reference, the commission would take under consideration the question of going to Vancouver.

Mr. Slavick concluded his story of being shot, for which he blamed city police, by saying: "I think I should get some damages."

"That doesn't come within the scope of the commission," said the chairman.

"Well, I thought I would mention it anyway," said the witness.

MUNICIPALITIES TO SHARE IN INCREASE
BREATHING SPACE
This four months' arrangement will provide what the Prime Minister described as "a breathing space" while Parliament has an opportunity to go into the question and decide upon future action.

It was his hope, Mr. King said, that the Government's policies on trade would go a long way toward decreasing the necessity for providing relief by providing work. The new arrangement does not conflict with any other unemployment relief activities such as public works projects or the care of single unemployed and homeless men.

RELIEF DISTRIBUTION
Following are the increased grants, by provinces, with the present rates in brackets:
Prince Edward Island, $2,187 ($1,250); Nova Scotia, $70,000 ($40,000); New Brunswick, $43,750 ($25,000); Quebec, $875,008 ($500,000); Ontario, $1,050,000 ($500,000); Manitoba, $236,250 ($135,000); Saskatchewan, $350,000 ($200,000); Alberta, $175,000 ($100,000); British Columbia, $262,500 ($150,000). Total, $3,064,687 ($1,751,250).

PREMIER'S STATEMENT
In making his announcement Mr. King issued the following statement:
"At the close of the recent Dominion-Provincial Conference it was announced that the Dominion Government would increase the grants-in-aid to the provinces for relief purposes in order that the provinces in turn might be enabled to lighten the heavy relief burden of the municipalities."

"The decision to increase substantially and immediately the grants-in-aid to the provinces has been influenced by the fact that the larger cities and towns of the Dominion have borne throughout the last five years a charge for unemployment relief which has involved many of them in financial difficulties and has threatened others with similar consequences."

INTERIM HELP
The present increases are in the nature of interim assistance throughout the winter months pending action by Parliament. As soon as possible following the establishment of a national commission on unemployment and relief, the administration of relief will receive a thorough investigation in order to obtain a proper basis for future financial contributions and to eliminate any abuses which have developed either through negligence of officials or misrepresentation of relief applicants.

"Those entitled to relief need have no fear of this investigation. It is they indeed who have most to gain by the elimination of abuses. It is equally obvious that the taxpayers of Canada are vitally interested in the correction of taxation abuses in relief administration whether as taxpayers they contribute to Dominion, provincial or municipal revenues."

MUTUAL EFFORTS
The immediate responsibility for the efficient administration of unemployment relief rests upon the provinces and municipalities concerned. It cannot be urged too strongly that this responsibility must be faced courageously by all governmental agencies.

"It is obvious that assistance for the unemployed, essential to the welfare and moral of the population must be accompanied by that degree of governmental economy which is essential to the preservation of national credit."

EXPRESS INTEREST
Members of the Government expressed interest in the announcement made by Prime Minister King that monthly relief grants would be increased to $262,500. They withheld comment until official confirmation was received from Ottawa.

Premier Pattullo, who returned yesterday from the East, could not be reached last night, but Hon. A. W. Gray, Minister of Municipal Affairs, said that the press report was interesting. Further than that he did not care to comment until full details were made available.

While the total number on relief in British Columbia declined from a maximum of 128,000 in March, 1933, to approximately 75,000 at the present time, there has been no concomitant reduction in costs. This is attributed to the higher costs of living. It is estimated that the relief bill for British Columbia approximates from $350,000 to $450,000 monthly. The Province has been forced to borrow heavily since 1930 to meet its share of the burden of relief.

STAND UNCHANGED AS PEACE PLAN FAILS
Nor is there any indication of a new effort at conciliation from any other direction. Even should Italy accept the plan—which is regarded as highly improbable—the British regard it as beyond hope of resurrection.

Anthony Eden, British Minister for League of Nations Affairs, strongly takes the view that the failure of the Franco-British effort must not be taken as meaning any alteration in League policy as regards sanctions.

Sanctions now in force—the embargo on the export of arms and ammunition, on the export of key products to Italy, financial measures and the boycott of all Italian exports to sanctionist countries—all remain as they were before the Franco-British plan was sprung on the world.

AGREED IN PRINCIPLE
The only difference is in regard to the proposed sanctions on oil, coal, iron and steel. The committee of eighteen had already agreed in principle to these additional sanctions. All that remained was to fix a date on which they should become applicable. It was for this purpose that a meeting of the committee was called December 12.

The upshot of it is that, as the committee of eighteen is not expected to meet until the middle of January, Mussolini gains at least another month before oil sanctions can be imposed.

On the other hand the view is commonly expressed in Geneva that the Franco-British episode is likely to have the effect of strengthening the League.

Any new effort at conciliation must, it is now accepted, come from within the organization of the League itself.

WILL VOTE ON ZONING BY-LAW

Saanich Council Approves Plebiscite for Ward Three At Elections

The Saanich Council last night authorized a plebiscite in Ward Three on a zoning by-law designed to restrict greenhouse building in the ward. Ratepayers will vote on the matter at the January election. At the same time the majority of the Council wished it made known they were definitely opposed to the wording of the by-law. After three other drafts of the proposed restrictions had been placed before the council, it was agreed that the fourth draft covered the entire situation. It was also pointed out that even if the plebiscite were approved by the electorate, it would not be binding on the 1936 council. Public hearings of any complaints to the by-law must be held before final adoption, it was reported to the council. The by-law briefly divided Ward Three into four sections with building restrictions governing each section. The by-law was primarily aimed to cut down the large number of greenhouses being built in the district. Copies of the by-law will be present to all ratepayers of the area, with an accompanying letter explaining its terms. The letter will be drawn up by Councilors A. G. Lamb, Ward Three; E. C. Warren, Ward Two, and Fred Borden, Ward One.

More for Relief Is Among First Fruits Of Federal Parley

Premier Pattullo Foresees Programme of Public Works in Canada—States Refunding of Provincial Debts Is Under Consideration

PROMISE of more money from Federal taxpayers for provincial and municipal relief of unemployment in British Columbia; a vigorous denial that this Province will submit to domination of its borrowing powers by a national loan council; and an abiding conviction that Canada will yet fall back upon a programme of public works to assist employment, were three points touched on by Premier Pattullo on his return yesterday from Ottawa.

The Premier arrived on the morning boat from Vancouver, and will be followed at the week-end by others of the British Columbia delegation.

He said that Federal relief grants to British Columbia will be raised, but by how much is not yet settled. Of the increase, the Province will hand a portion on to the municipalities.

FURTHER MEETINGS It is not yet clear if refunding of Provincial obligations will be attempted here this session. Hon. John Hart is to take part in a further meeting of finance ministers at Ottawa in January. Committee suggestions of Federal guarantees of Provincial loans on a probationary basis did not find favor with this Province, which will oppose any surrender of its autonomy.

Changes in the British North America Act, once such changes are possible, have been agreed in principle, and Hon. Gordon M. Sloan, K.C., will represent British Columbia at a further conference at Ottawa on this point in the new year.

There has been no settlement of exact division of Federal and Provincial taxation, but British Columbia views on this issue have been laid before Ottawa fully.

NEGOTIATION CONTINUES Continuing committees are to further the work of the conference, headed in the direction of direct representations to the Federal Government on a large number of problems.

Relief is to be studied by a Federal unemployment commission. On two points the Premier spoke with emphasis: Provincial autonomy and public works. He said, in part: "Efforts have been made to create sentiment prejudicial to this Government and myself by saying that 'work and wages' have been denied at Ottawa. The Dominion has denied nothing. The conference endorsed the principle of public works. 'No matter what Government is in power at Ottawa, sooner or later there is going to come a public works programme, until such time as private industry can absorb men now idle. There must be public works, and there is, as I see it, no other way out."

REFUNDING "On the question of refunding, a committee was appointed to examine the whole matter. I have no hesitation in saying that there is no intention whatever on our part that British Columbia will surrender its autonomy. There will be amendments to the B.N.A. Act so that the Provinces can be put on a self-supporting basis, financially," the Premier concluded.

Privately it was learned that the Province was alarmed at suggestions that in return for Federal guarantees on loans, Provinces might be asked to submit to control by a loan council. Other suggestions in committee, dealing with the hypothecation of Provincial revenues and Federal collection of all income taxes, are understood to have been warmly opposed, though no official comment was offered here on the point.

MADE PROGRESS The Premier, for one, expressed gratification at the results of the conference. He said that while it might require eighteen months or a year to work out problems now before Ottawa, what Provincial Government was thinking had been laid very fully before the national Government.

The conference, he said, had been an advisory meeting, with any legislation that might follow being the responsibility of the Federal Government, as trustee for the country as a whole. Meanwhile, Premier Pattullo declared, there should be patience while these problems were being carried out.

At yesterday's meeting of the Oak Bay Council, on motion of Councilor R. R. Taylor, a resolution was carried expressing appreciation of the work done by the Friendly Help Society of the municipality for those in need. It was ordered that a letter of thanks be sent to the members of that organization, expressing the sentiments of the council with regard to the untiring efforts of the body to render this needed help.

It was pointed out that the committee of ten that carried out the work of distribution had performed a duty which meant a great deal to the municipality as a whole, in addition to being a meritorious work for the less fortunate in the community.

By resolution the council ordered that the salaries of the municipal employees be paid before Christmas.

CLEARING THE ATMOSPHERE

The resignation of Sir Samuel Hoare as Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs is in keeping with the traditions of British politics. In effect it means that he assumes full responsibility for British participation in the Franco-British proposals, and because that participation is not approved by a united British Cabinet as a desirable method of bringing about peace in Ethiopia he has sacrificed his own political career rather than have a Cabinet crisis. It is a gesture that at any time, and all times, may be expected from a British Cabinet Minister, and all the more necessary a one in the case of the Foreign Secretary. It means that the Franco-British plan for the partition of Ethiopian territory is dead. Discussion of it need not continue before the Council of the League of Nations.

The Opposition members in the British House of Commons have naturally capitalized the failure of the proposed terms for peace in Ethiopia. It is doubtful, however, if they have obtained any political advantage, for the sense of injustice which was their chief weapon has been wrested from them by the resignation of Sir Samuel Hoare. It was public opinion as a whole in Great Britain, and perhaps, too, in France, that sounded the death knell of the Franco-British proposals for a basis of peace in East Africa. It was not anything that the Labor Party said or did. The lesson to be derived from the incident is that any peace proposals should emanate from the floor of the Council of the League of Nations and not by arrangement between any two or any group of Powers.

Italy will learn a good deal about the attitude of the world towards her adventure in Ethiopia by the latest happening. She now knows very definitely that there is no disposition to recognize her as a conqueror, whatever the results of her invasion. Moreover, the League of Nations can now pursue a course that, more than ever before, is sustained by public opinion. For the time being it seems useless to discuss what the terms of peace should be. That is a matter which, as an antidote to future aggression, should not be determined until the Italian soldiery have evacuated Ethiopian territory. The very proposal that there should be cessation of territory because of aggression, if successful, is putting a premium on violation of the Covenant of the League of Nations. The League has to stand or fall by its Covenant and its inviolability. Its course now is to proceed with sanctions, provided it is persuaded that these will accomplish the result sought. It may have to extend those sanctions. What it knows is that, according to public opinion, the terms of peace can only be discussed successfully when the war is stopped, and those terms must mean a resumption of the status quo before hostilities commenced.

The burst of indignation engendered by the Franco-British proposals has in reality cleared the atmosphere. The League has now a clear-cut course to pursue, and individual nations will obviously be well advised to restrict their viewpoints to their expression at Geneva and not to formulate diplomatic overtures among themselves. After all, the Ethiopian War is primarily the concern of the League. It is its Covenant that is violated. It is the League as a whole that not only has to pass final judgment but that, as a body, has to devise methods to make that judgment possible. It is true that Great Britain and France, of all the nations of Europe, are most deeply concerned about the Italian adventure. Their adherence to the League of Nations and their strength in its councils should be the guarantee that the consensus of opinion reached by that body will be implemented in all its implications.

PLEBISCITE ON UNION LIBRARY

The residents of Vancouver Island from the Malahat to Campbell River and the Alberni will have the opportunity, next month, of voting themselves into the possession by next Autumn of a regional Union Library of about 10,000 volumes, available to every person in that area. About forty-five municipalities and rural school districts on Vancouver Island have sent in petitions for the taking of a plebiscite on the creation of a Union Library District under the terms of the Public Libraries Act. The plebiscite will be taken under an Order-in-Council about the middle of January, and the result will be determined by a straight majority vote. The residents of the Okanagan and of the Kootenays will express their wish as to library service at the same time.

For more than twelve months an improved library service for the Up-Island area has been discussed. The residents already are supporters of a number of libraries of varying size and efficiency, and many in this area have been attracted to the project of pooling the separate enterprises and their bookshelves into one regional collection of books that would be accessible to all. The Provincial Library Commission, under a grant of $15,000 from the Carnegie Library Fund, and acting through Dr. Helen G. Stewart, has brought the advantages home to the citizens by demonstrations and addresses. Service clubs, School Boards, library associations and public assemblies have become conversant with the pros and cons of the plan.

A strong case has been made out for a regional library service here by the pronounced success of the Fraser Valley Union Library. This library was erected under a large grant from the Carnegie people as a demonstration to British Columbia and, indeed, to all Canada, of the idea of co-operation. When the time came, two years ago, for self-support, a gratified constituency gave a preponderant vote in favor. The necessary expense was shouldered and the excellent service that had been built up was carried forward, with a growing enthusiasm for the scheme and an increasing number of readers and books in circulation. The total registered membership of readers is now nearly 23,000, almost half of the population of the district, men, women and children, and the total circulation of books runs past a quarter of a million volumes, or more than six per capita.

Co-operation made effective through transportation is the method to be adopted in the proposed Vancouver Island Union Library, as it has been the method that has proved so successful on the Mainland. The library van is the key to the success of the Regional Union Library. By means of the van every book that belongs to each of twenty different libraries is at the disposal of all. It is the library van, plus something, that makes all the difference between a number of separate libraries and a co-operative scheme of mutual helpfulness by interchange and under trained direction. The estimated cost of this service will be about $10,000 yearly, that is about 40 cents per capita, which will not be based on a mill rate on property but on a flat rate to be levied on each elector or householder.

ALARMS AND EXCURSIONS

There was always a nigger in the Social Credit woodpile in Alberta. Now Premier Aberhart wants Canadian, British and American holders of $160,000,000 of Alberta's bonds to accept an interest rate of 2½ and 2¾ per cent instead of 5 per cent or thereabouts, so as to make Alberta's credit "gilt-edged" before it can be a foundation for Social Credit. "Quite so," says The Wall Street Journal. "It will mean that Social Credit in that blessed province will not come out of thin air, but out of the pockets of Canadian, British and American bondholders and of the taxpayers of the other provinces. Why didn't somebody think of this before?" The Calgary Herald, published in the heart of the province where Social Credit is so dominant, says:

"By representing the province as hopelessly insolvent as the result of the U.F.A. Government, Premier Aberhart and his advisers hope to enhance the prospects of securing a huge loan in Ottawa. Not only that, but this talk of blue ruin serves to justify extended delay before they can be expected to implement their pre-election promises to inaugurate basic dividends. The present cry of the new Alberta Government is that the financial position of the province must be set right before the Social Programme can be considered. . . . There is something very mysterious about that $9,000,000 deficit story." The Toronto Globe asks: "But has Mr. Aberhart, wizard of finance, concluded that orthodox financiers alone can help Alberta? Can he not juggle the hat a little more and produce what he needs? How can he, when preparing to upset the financial traditions on which 'sound money' policies are based, expect to go into the money markets and get more advantageous terms than other provinces?"

Elections are reputed to be as uncertain as horse races. Not so, however, to a member of the staff of The Eastbourne Courier, which a week before the general election in Great Britain forecast the result almost accurately. He gave the Conservatives 385 seats, Labor 165 seats, National Liberal 30, Liberal 19, National Labor 8, National 5 and Independent 3. These figures turned out practically correct. In the forecast each constituency was treated separately and were the result of simple arithmetical work. The figures of the last few elections, with their widely-different results, were averaged, and the average was accepted as the predicted result. In the constituencies very few were wrong. The prophet had never prophesied before. He simply went on the basis that there is a stable consistency underlying so-called "upheavals" in British political thought.

Someone once said that the rules of life are as simple as those of golf. There are just a few common-sense rules in both cases, but the trouble appears to be that so few follow them, and there are bad golfers as well as bad lives.

One of the best methods of rendering study agreeable is to live with able men, and to suffer all those pangs of inferiority which the want of knowledge always elicits.—Sydney Smith.

Esteeming others merely for their agreement with us in religion, opinion, and manner of living is only a less offensive kind of self-adoration.—Rev. T. Adam.

Note and Comment

By R. R. D.

He needs must so that the devil drive Shakespeare.

Seven motor cars, evidently driven by motorists who were in a hurry to get nowhere in particular, bumped into one another at a street intersection in Vancouver. There was something humorously interesting in that incident as printed in the papers. The first car approaching the intersection was forced to slow up to avoid a collision with another car on the cross street, but it was going so fast that it could not be stopped in time to prevent collision, so it side-swiped the car on the cross street. While the drivers were surveying the result of the "accident" and arguing about the damage, who was responsible and who should pay, another car came along and bumped into the car which seemed to have been going too fast when approaching the intersection. Then another car came along, then another, and another, and more of them, until there was a string of seven cars which had bumped into one another. That was another illustration of the truth of the old adage, "the more haste the less speed."

Such things never happen in Victoria, but not because we are so slow here or our local motorists always slow up, according to the rule, when approaching intersections. That may be because there is a Providence which looks after motor drivers as well as of sailors and little children. There may be a Providence which takes care of elderly pedestrians, too, for a few evenings ago while crossing a street at an intersection with the green light with us and the red light against both cars and pedestrians, a big car rushed up and crashed through against the red light and almost swept us along in its wake by the atmospheric current it made.

The game of life is dangerous because there are insurgents who will not obey the rules of that game. The bumping process is proceeding in all parts of the world as well as in Vancouver, and thousands of people are being bumped every year into another, and we trust a better world, where the rules of the game are not made to be broken, and where, again we trust, there is a place prepared for the outlaws.

Then there is a broader aspect to this perplexing matter. Some of the nations of the world will not abide by the rules of the international game of life and are murderously bumping one another. The world is wide, and there should be room sufficient for all; but that word "expansion," like the word "sanction," has been given a new definition. The common meaning of the word sanction was consent or approval. The new or the revived definition is penalty. There is no such phrase in the Italian vocabulary as birth control. Neither the church nor the state approves of it. To both it is anathema. So the population of Italy has been expanding rapidly, and the people are bumping one another, and their rulers are demanding opportunities for expansion. The necessity for expansion is the reason or the excuse for the war in Ethiopia. Other nations in other days expanded by various methods, not always violent. Mussolini justifies his course by referring all the people of the world to the records of history.

The League of Nations, formed for the purpose of maintaining the peace of the world by united or collective action, has bumped against Italy, and is purposing coercion by united action. But some of the members of the League are bumping one another and refusing to countenance the application of sanctions. And in the meantime other nations, more interested in making war profits than enforcing peace, are standing afar off and watching with interest and some curiosity the bumping process. Probably if the thoughts of the leaders of some of the nations, may be the thoughts of most of the nations, were revealed, the truth would be laid bare that the hopes of those leaders are that chaos and confusion may triumph and preage the beginning of the end of some of the leading nations. We notice that some of our contemporary newspaper commentators are predicting that very thing.

For that matter, there appears to be little unity and less harmony anywhere in the world. In our own country the provinces are bumping the Dominion, the municipalities are bumping the provinces, and there is a string of bumpers almost as long as that of the motor cars which bumped one another on a street intersection in Vancouver. Fast driving is at the root of all the turmoil and trouble. Nowhere that we know of are any measures being proposed for restricting the rates of speed or the rates of public expenditure. The wild men everywhere are talking about bumping the banks and those who have lent them money under promises to repay. Premier Aberhart, of Alberta, has tried to bump the Dominion into giving him the modest sum of twenty million dollars for the purpose of setting up in business an establishment which will pay every resident within the province a monthly stipend of "dividend" of twenty-five dollars. Aberhart has got his bump. Premier Hepburn has told the Dominion Government what he will do to it if it does not buy out all the private shareholders in the national bank and deliver it into the managerial hands of the politicians. He, too, will get his bump. Mr. McGeer will admit when he gets home that he, too, was bumped, but we suspect Gerry will not "take it" lying down. There may be some political wig scattered on the green in many places before the bumpers cease their bumping.

Silencing the Press!

Mr. Speaker, the Honorable Mr. Speaker, whose head rumble and stamp the noisy feet of certain ill-tempered persons who report parliament without officially being there, may breathe easier. They have changed the carpet. Mr. Speaker! Workmen have gone, at their peril, up those rickety stairs into the legislative press gallery. They have roped like alpinists for safety, torn out the old stair carpet, with ten loops to each step, and carried the remains thoroughly away. They have, these workmen, scrubbed the unhallowed premises with soap and water. They have, further, nailed down nice new strips of "silent" rubber matting, on each stair. Indeed they have, Mr. Speaker. Only it will do no good because only a mountain goat could go up or down those stairs without a common like fragile political pledges dropping suddenly on the hard reality of concrete facts. Still, rubber may put some bounce into the boys. In any event, it was a worthy attempt. Mr. Speaker: one designed for your future comfort and serenity, and with a third session coming, heaven knows you deserve both.—S.G.

Wandering About

The operator of one of the largest downtown service stations, was the butt of many jokes this week. He ran out of gasoline a long way from the nearest filling station. Scrolling into a tobacco-conist shop the other evening we were surprised to see the man on duty with a number of electric trains in various stages of disintegration spread out all over the rear of the premises. Between jumps to the counter he was repairing them for the Boy Scouts' Christmas workshop. . . . Life is full of contrasts. One day this week we watched two men, attired in Summer togs, playing tennis at the corner of Belleville and Mendocino Streets. Dragging our fallen arches along to the Gaisway we noticed two women swathed in heavy fur coats. They carried an umbrella against them as a protection against rays of the feeble Winter sun. Yellow may be the official color of China, but the Chinese see red when Japan is mentioned.—G.B.

Building Revived

Big Ships

I see where an American shipping magnate proposes two superliners to beat all other superliners—they will displace 100,000 tons, to make thirty-four knots, to measure a quarter of a mile, to carry 10,000 passengers and at cost fifty millions. It's all right for the magnate to propose them as he knows the government will do the paying.—J.D.

DUNCAN PUPILS GIVE CONCERT

Standing Room Only Sign Out Before Opening of Successful Show

DUNCAN, Dec. 19.—The annual Christmas concert put on by the pupils of the Duncan Consolidated School proved a success again this year, standing room only being obtainable some time before the affair began. After the singing of "O Canada," the pupils of York Road School, Grades I, II and III, under the tutelage of Miss G. Owens, staged a most attractive circus. Miss M. Kippen acted as accompanist for the songs. The next scene: "Pageant of the Nations," was enacted by Grades I, II and III of the primary school. The children were trained by Misses Patmore, Dwyer and Dickenson, with Mrs. J. Piper at the piano. V. Jones' boys of Grades V and VI gave a classroom playlet, "Crooked Answers." National carols, which reflected great credit on their instructor, Mr. Parfitt, were sung by the intermediate choir, Grades IV, V and VI. Other Sellers accompanied the singers.

EXCELLENT OPERETTA
A charming operetta, "Paper Prayers," was an excellent production. Taking part were pupils of Grades VII and VIII, under the direction of H. E. Blanchard, with Mrs. Blanchard at the piano. The cleverly-executed scenery was the work of A. R. Haines, and J. E. Hanna was an efficient stage manager. The principals of the operetta were Gertrude Halling as O Matu San; Elaine Purdy, Mildred McColl and Fujiyo Toyota, Japanese girls friends of O Matu San; Cecil Clark as Mr. Maruana; his friends, Raymond Purver and John Porter; Daphne Purvey as Monno San; Gordon Spears as Han San; A. R. Haines as father of O Matu San, and V. Jones as father of Maruana.

One of the most delightful scenes of the operetta was the lantern scene and dance by girls of Grades IV, V and VI, trained by Miss Anne Staples, with Miss K. Graham accompanying.

G. C. D'Arcy had charge of all business arrangements in connection with the concert, which was attended by over a thousand people.

BROADCASTING WEATHER

Sir,—This evening I listened to the announcer of The Province News telling us it was a mild day, but foggy. I shut off the radio, pronouncing it "poor reception" and looked up a writing pad to say what I thought of him, but I don't think you would publish it. I was outside several times today and saw nothing here but bright sunshine. I was wondering if there is any redress for Victoria having her climate slandered and mixed up with a foggy city like Vancouver. It costs Victoria money to advertise her climate to the public. Why not have at least an apology by radio to correct the impression given to people hundreds or thousands of miles distant that this is a foggy city? J. O. STINSON.

MOTORISTS AND FROST

Sir,—When will our City Fathers wake up to the need for safety precautions on frosty mornings? This morning, a few minutes to 9, on Fort Street hill above Cook Street, seven cars were sliding around in all directions on the ice, out of control, while at the same time two men were sprawled on the road who had fallen from bicycles. The result was no one hurt, several dented fenders and one with front wheel smashed; bad enough but still "a miracle." On such mornings in any other city work crews are out early and place such dangerous places, and police are on duty to slow up the traffic. Surely the motorist pays enough in licence and gas tax to warrant precautions for his safety. If the city cannot provide it, the province should.

"ON BEING FREE"

Sir,—A word on Lieutenant-Colonel Moore's letter of the 17th inst. The third paragraph has much that is true about sects. Let all those interested in themselves try this state of things exists. This "body of believers" constitutes also the visible church. The "viceregent for the Prince of Peace" has done everything possible within his domain to promote peace. Everybody who reads or studies the questions must testify to this. He of all the world, has shown most eagerness for peace and spent himself most in the urging of peace.

He can do more than he has done and that is considerably more than anyone else, much as these others may be doing in a worldly way.

It has become a very involved question, and even at the beginning, it was not understood by outsiders. Anyway what actually has been done, does anyone know?

Lumber Industry in Province Is Ending Much Brighter Year

Increase in Cutting and General Timber Operations 20 Per Cent, for Eleven-Month Period—Export Market Held Steady at Fair Volume

BRITISH Columbia's timber industry showed important gains in eleven months this year, with an increase of approximately 20 per cent in general operations, provincial reports disclosed yesterday.

The scale of saw logs for the period was 2,279,000 board feet, compared with 1,896,000 board feet between January and November, inclusive, last year. Exports by water remained steady, at 766,746,000 board feet.

E. C. Manning, acting chief forester, gave details for the provincial review, which included, besides the log scale, 7,562,000 linear feet of poles and piling, 146,000 cords of wood and 1,558,000 pieces of hewn ties. The corresponding figures for eleven months last year were 4,142,000 linear feet of poles, 135,000 cords and 1,666,000 pieces in ties.

EMPIRE TRADE
Great Britain took more than half of the water-borne exports, lumber inspection reports disclosed, with a total order of 416,300,000 board feet for eleven months this year, a slight increase over a like period in 1934. Australia was the next best customer in the water-borne trade, taking 122,080,000 board feet, being also a slight increase.

Shipments to the Atlantic seaboard rose during the year, being the first sign of a steady revival on this continent. Prairie and British Columbia goods were firmer.

The figures do not include lumber and products moved by rail, for which no data are currently available. November operations included a log scale of 239,343,000 board feet, compared with 195,000,000 feet in November, 1934; and water-borne exports of 77,660,360 feet, about the same as in last year.

Evidence of revival of construction in Canada began to show in recent months, though the movement has been slight as yet, it is stated.

STUDENTS GIVE FINE CONCERT

Pupils of George Jay School Present Excellent Variety Of Entertainment

The Christmas concert given by the students of George Jay School in their auditorium last night was a revelation to the public of the extra-curricular work that is carried on in the schools.

The programme, which covered a wide range of entertainment, indicated the degree to which students are now encouraged in the art of self-expression, and also the manner in which they are trained to overcome that self-consciousness so inherent in most children.

The first part of the programme was devoted to group singing, rhythmic work, folk dancing and dramatics, which are taught in the schools partly as extra-curricular work and partly as school studies.

In the latter half of the programme, an opportunity was afforded the students of entertaining the audience in their own way, and an insight was given into the development of talent by home studies. The second part was a "Major Snow's Amateur Hour," and was replete with clever vocal, instrumental, dancing and group singing talent as well as comedy.

The first part of the programme included class singing of carols by divisions seven and eight; rhythmic band by divisions ten and eleven; folk dances by divisions nine, ten and eleven; rhythmic drills by division eight; classroom play, "Discovery of Canada" by division seven boys; operatic choruses by division

It is due to the fact that New Year's Day falls on a Wednesday.

REFUSE TERMS OF PHYSICIANS

Saanich Council Adopts "Standpat" Attitude on Medical Proposal

The Saanich Council last night stood firm in its refusal to enter into any agreement with the Victoria Medical Society for care of municipal "indigents."

A letter from Dr. R. L. Miller, chairman of the society's committee, which interviewed the council, stated that if the council would not meet the demands of the society, care of the "indigents" would cease on December 31.

Dr. Miller defined "indigents" as "only those accepted as legally destitute and a proper charge upon the municipality for the ordinary necessities of life."

He reiterated his suggestion that, if Dr. David Berman, medical health officer, could not care for these cases, a part-time assistant be appointed.

The society had sought a flat monthly rate for the care of the "indigents."

Oak Bay Fails to Endorse Doctors' Relief Proposal

THE Oak Bay Council, yesterday, decided that, in view of the situation that existed in the municipalities, it did not seem advisable to endorse the proposal of the Victoria Medical Society that special provision be made for the handling of relief cases when medical treatment was necessary.

It was decided to continue the work on the present basis.

MANY FAMILIES LEAVE RELIEF

Total of 165 Married Men Are Absorbed Into Private Employment

A reduction of nearly 200 families on relief since the depression reached its lowest ebb, was reported by Alderman T. W. Hawkins, chairman of the city's relief committee, yesterday.

At the end of November there were 870 families on relief in Victoria, as compared with 1,035 at the end of November, 1932, when the depression reached its lowest point, the alderman stated.

This means a reduction of 165 families on relief. Since November, 1932, the reduction has been consistent, showing that gradually heads of families have been absorbed into permanent employment.

An interesting phase of the situation lies in the type of families that have gone off relief. In November, 1932, each head of a family on relief had an average of 1.76 children. The average has now decreased to 1.06, indicating that men with larger families have been more successful in obtaining employment than those with fewer children or none at all.

YOUTH ADMITS ARMED HOLDUP

Boy Thinks Reading of Detective Stories Prompted Patricia Bay Theft

Pleading guilty to a charge of armed robbery with violence on Wednesday, in a Patricia Bay store, operated by A. S. Aylwin, a sixteen-year-old Victoria youth was given suspended sentence by Magistrate George Jay, in Provincial Police Court, yesterday afternoon.

Asked why he committed the crime, the boy said he did not know, but suggested the act might have been prompted by his recent reading of detective stories.

He admitted stealing the 32 calibre revolver he used in the holdup. The boy said it belonged to a friend.

LEADS OFFICERS

The revolver was found hidden under a boathouse and $6 of the money taken was recovered from a cache by the railway tracks, not far from the store, where he held up Mrs. Aylwin, Inspector Robert Owens told the court. The inspector said the boy had admitted committing the robbery and had led officers to the revolver and money.

Mrs. Aylwin, according to Inspector Owens, thought $12 was taken by the boy from the till, after he had entered the store wearing a mask. The youth said the sum was $6.40 and the forty cents not recovered by police, was still in the cache, he thought.

COUNCIL ORDERS

HOLLY TREES CUT

Public Opinion Is Divided, However, in Oak Bay on Availability of Removals

Opinions seem to be divided in Oak Bay with respect to the cutting of holly trees growing on the boulevards. Authority has been granted the works superintendent to cut hollies which interfered with the view of drivers of automobiles and the work is now in hand. A very few have been cut, it was reported, and in their places deciduous trees are being planted. The planting of new trees is far in excess of those cut out.

While there are some requests for leave to cut hollies, others appear to have reasons for opposing the destruction of these trees.
C. L. Harrison and Mrs. B. L. Spence, in letters sent to the council, which were considered at yesterday's meeting of the council, pointed out that the hollies afforded a great protection to small birds of which there were too few in the municipality.

ONTARIO NAMES TWO SCHOLARS

Son of Former Russian Minister of Education to Go To Oxford

TORONTO, Dec. 19 (P)—John E. L. Graham, of Weyburn, Sask., a student of University College, and George Ignatieff, of Lansing, Ont., a student at Trinity College, are the winners of Ontario's two Rhodes scholarships, according to an announcement tonight by Henry Borden, secretary of the selection committee.
Ignatieff was born in Russia in 1913, a son of Count Paul Ignatieff, formerly Minister of Education in the Imperial Russian Cabinet. He is a fourth-year science and economics student and has taken first-class honors. This Autumn he won the Maurice Cody Scholarship for his treatise on "The Constitutional History of Canada." His home, at Lansing, is immediately north of Toronto.
Graham was born at Weyburn, Sask., in 1915 and is now in his fourth year of political science and economics. He also has won first-class honors. He is president of the Political Science Club at the university, president of the University College Players' Guild, and is the winner of the second Alexander Mackenzie Scholarship.

Want Driveways Named—With the amount of business that is being carried on at the exhibition grounds now, the Chief of Police suggested in a report to the council of Oak Bay that the driveways should be named and made public highways. With moving-picture enterprises and riding academies in full operation, it was deemed safer to bring these driveways under control. The council decided to further investigate the situation before taking any step in this direction.

The evidence was that two city police officers had visited the place in plain clothes and purchased beer and liquor. The Saanich police arrived later and searched the place, finding a limited amount of liquor there.

JAPANESE DO NOT APPROVE

Declared Building Programme for Naval Powers Makes Little Appeal

LONDON, Dec. 19 (CP-AP)—The Japanese delegates today indicated that they did not approve the British proposal for declared building programme by the world's naval powers, although they did not formally reject it at the Naval Conference.

Meanwhile, Norman H. Davis, chief United States delegate, expressed hope "that a fair and constructive naval agreement" would be reached early in 1936.

MANY QUESTIONS

The Japanese delivered a barrage of questions on the British proposal, whereby each power would announce its building programme over a period of years. The British suggested a six-year period.

Admiral Osami Nagano indicated that Japan considered the proposal practically continued the 5-5-3 ratio system, which his country is determined to end.

Viscount Monell, First Lord of the Admiralty and chairman of the conference, was understood to have informed the admiral that existing strengths would provide equality and security.

The French and Italian delegates are unwilling to make any commitments extending over more than two years.

AT PILGRIMS DINNER

Davis spoke tonight at a Pilgrims dinner in honor of the naval delegations. An agreement is necessary, he asserted, for world reconstruction, and "for restoration of a more stable balance of the international political, social and economic system."

Readily admitting the numerous obstacles to such an agreement, he said he was convinced the spirit of co-operative good eventually would result in a new limitation pact and a "most successful conference, one which will not be marked by victory for one nation or by injury to another."

Tomorrow the conference will wind up until after the holidays.

SAYS CANADIANS GOOD AUDIENCES

Governor-General Finds Genuine Love for the Spoken Word in Dominion

OTTAWA, Dec. 19 (P)—The opinion that Canadians furnish "about the best audiences in the world," with citizens of the United States second, was expressed here today by Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada.

"You people on this side of the Atlantic are far better audiences than we have in Britain, for you have a genuine love of the spoken word," he told a Canadian Club meeting. "Here you really want to listen; at home you have to keep clutching people, so to speak, by their hair all the time to prevent them drifting away."

His Excellency made his first public address to an Ottawa Canadian Club audience on the subject of public speaking, weaving into his speech recollections of numerous great speakers he had heard, and expressing something of his own tastes in oratory. He confined his remarks to the spoken word on secular occasions, saying that oratory in the pulpit belonged to an entirely different class.

"These are bad days for the orator," the Governor-General told his listeners. "A public man, with the immense population of voters which we possess today, has no chance of really making his voice heard through the land, as, for example, Mr. Gladstone did in the old days, and Theodore Roosevelt in the United States in more recent times."

Par the easiest way of appeal was through broadcasting, and broadcasting meant an entirely new technique in speaking. "There," said His Excellency, "you get the spoken word in its barest form, with none of the additions which come from the speaker's personality, his eye, his voice, his presence."

BAD DAYS FOR ORATOR

He did not feel personal oratory could ever be quite done away with. Parliament would always be there; there would always be "the effect produced by certain public meetings held at a key moment." That being so, it was not a barren question to ask what kind of speaking in the future was likely to have the widest and most direct appeal to the modern audience.

SUES PRODUCERS FOR PLAGIARISM

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (P)—Francis Hackett, the author of "Henry VIII," today sued the producers of "The Private Life of Henry VIII," English talking picture, charging plagiarism.

Parts of his book were pirated, he told the Federal District Court, "to excite, by representation and misrepresentation, in said motion picture, the same emotions as complainant had invented and created in his book."

Hackett named as defendants Alexander Korda, producer and director of London Film Productions, Ltd., and United Artists Corporation.

Workroom Closes While Needlewomen Enjoy Tea

The Women's Workroom, Cook Street, suspended activities yesterday afternoon in order that the seventy-five workers could attend the hospitable Christmas party arranged in their honor by the committee.

The affair was held at the New Thought Hall, 720 1/2 Port Street, which had a gay and seasonable air, thanks to the dozen or more small tinsel-and-baubel decked trees that graced the long tea-tables down the sides and centre of the room, while the platform and windows were banked with evergreen and fir.

Everyone entered into the spirit of the occasion, and during and after tea, guests and hostesses joined in the singing of old carols, southern melodies and marching songs, the climax being reached when the carol leaders strolled down from the platform and linking hands with the guests, formed a complete circle round the hall for the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Even then, however, the programme was not at an end, for Mrs. J. W. Gibson, the vice-president, in the absence of the president, Miss Wigley, announced that "a kind friend," Mrs. William Todd, had sent an individual Christmas gift for each guest. This and the afternoon's entertainment were acknowledged in a deeply appreciative speech by Mrs. Holmes, on behalf of the workroom workers.

The delightful programme, convened by Mrs. Hebdon Gillespie, who also provided the pianoforte part of the entertainment, included vocal solos by Mrs. T. A. Rickard, a duet by the Misses Marjorie and Honor Benson, accompanied by Mrs. Benson; and the carols and southern melodies mentioned. These guest artists were specially thanked by Mrs. Gibson, who also spoke appreciatively of the ladies who convened the tea, decorated the rooms, and in various other ways helped to make the party a success; and thanks were expressed to David Spencer, Limited, for lending a radio. A telegram of good wishes was read from Mrs. A. H. Pease, convener of the party, who had to be out of the city, her duties being ably taken over by Mrs. Charles Swayne.

Members of the workroom committee present were the vice-president, Mrs. Gibson; the secretary, Miss Maxwell; treasurer, Mrs. R. R. Taylor; convener of sales, Mrs. Alec Gillespie; convener of employment, Mrs. O. Swayne; investigator, Miss B. Fitzgibbon; Mrs. Alan Morkill; Mrs. P. B. Scurrah; the shopper, Miss G. Finch Page; and finance committee, Miss Ogilvie. Mrs. Thorpe-Douglas, Mrs. Genge and Mrs. Hermann Robertson.

In expressing regret at the absence of the president, Miss Wigley, Mrs. Gibson announced that flowers were being sent to her. The quaint frosted snows and other attractive little details which added so much to the appearance of the tea-tables were lent by Miss Ogilvie.

An informal reception was held after the service in the Parish Hall, where Mr. and Mrs. Bursey were assisted by Mr. Parlbey and Mrs. J. Breakell in receiving the guests. Mrs. Bursey wore a shaft ensemble of green silk and a black hat, and Mrs. Breakell was dressed in navy blue crepe with touches of white, and they both wore corsage bouquets of pink carnations.

The festive decorations were carried out in red and yellow, and a buffet supper was served from a table centred with a two-tier cake, and set with red candles in silver holders, and vases filled with yellow and white chrysanthemums and carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Parlbey will make their home at 1575 Pembroke Street.

Children of Saltspring Hold Party

SALTSRING ISLAND, Dec. 19.
—A delightful afternoon was spent at Harbor House, Ganges, when the pupils of Mrs. H. Moorhouse's school held their annual Christmas party and break-up. About fifty parents and guests were present.

The programme commenced with a pianoforte duet, "The Old Clock," by Rosemary Loomore and Lucy Burditt. Two exhibition dances, "Invitation to the Valse" and a gypsy tambourine dance, were kindly given by Sonia Slavina. After much well-merited applause, she complied with an encore to the latter, the performance greatly helping towards the success of the afternoon. A violin solo, "Minuet in G," was rendered by Helen Moorhouse. Little Pat Roberts danced most attractively in "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town."

The following, which were acted by the school children, illustrated the well-known proverb: "Empty Vessels Make the Most Sound." "It Is No Good Crying Over Spilt Milk," "More Haste, Less Speed," "The Proof of the Pudding Is in the Eating," "A Watched Pot Never Boils," "When the Cat's Away, the Mice Will Play," "Half a Loaf Is Better Than No Bread."

An exhibition of the exercises taught by Sonia Slavina was carried out most efficiently by one of her pupils, Helen Moorhouse, who also contributed a Grecian dance most effectively, each movement being gracefully carried out. Christmas recitations were given by Helen Moorhouse, Dulcie Crofton, Katherine Popham, Rosemary Loomore, Sylvia Crofton, Lucy Burditt, June Mitchell, Kenneth Brown.

At the close of the afternoon, tea was served.

Among those present were Mrs. Alex Scoones who kindly accompanied Sonia Slavina and Pat Roberts at the piano, Mrs. G. Aitkens, Mrs. G. Borradaile, Mr. and Mrs. T. Burditt, Mrs. A. Buchanan, Mrs. R. Brown, Mrs. Frank Crofton, Mrs. D. K. Crofton, Mrs. Desmond Crofton, Mrs. L. Cropper, Mrs. A. J. Eaton, Mrs. Faux, Mrs. C. A. Goodrich, Mrs. J. D. Halley, Mrs. S. W. Hoole, Mrs. A. Inglis, Mrs. D. Jones, Mrs. J. C. Kingsbury, Mrs. A. R. Layard, Mrs. Loomore, Mrs. V. C. Morris, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mrs. M. B. Mount, Mrs. Ray Morris, Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Popham, Mrs. A. R. Price, Mrs. H. "Breadfruit" Bligh Mementoes Owned By Eastern Woman

Naval Officer Who Was Cast Adrift When His Crew on H.M.S. Bounty Mutinied Played Part in British Columbia History

HAMILTON, Dec. 19 (P).—Down through the pages of history to a home in Hamilton comes a trail of romance. It is the story of Lieutenant Bligh and the famous mutiny on the British warship Bounty. A great-great-granddaughter of the famous officer lives in Hamilton and has many relics of the renowned seaman in her possession.

Mrs. H. J. Boelsche, a direct descendant of Lieut. Bligh, comes from an old Cornish family, the male members of which have gone to sea for generations. Mrs. Boelsche's mother was a Bligh and the Hamilton woman has several valued mementoes of her famed ancestor's family.

SET ADRIFF

One of these is an ancient engraving of the scene as Lieut. Bligh, with eighteen other officers and loyal members of the crew, was placed in the longboat of the Bounty and set adrift after the crew had mutinied.

Another picture of a boating scene in rural England was drawn by Lieut. Bligh's sister.

The Bounty sailed on April 14, 1789, with a load of breadfruit trees from an island in the South Sea for West Indian British possessions. Fifteen days later a large part of the crew mutinied. Those put off in the longboat with provisions struggled with their craft.

forty-one days and sailed more than 3,600 miles, reaching Timor, a Dutch possession in the Far East. Lieut. Bligh has been depicted as a hard, cruel master, whose tyranny caused the mutiny, but an eighteenth century historian wrote that the sailors on the Bounty were largely convicts, some taken from prison to send to sea, and others, escaped prisoners seeking foreign countries.

WITH VANCOUVER

"Breadfruit" Bligh was associated with the early history of British Columbia, being with Capt. George Vancouver when he came to this Coast in 1792 to negotiate with the Spaniards for the settlement of the lands of which Capt. John Meares was dispossessed. Bligh held rank as master at the time. An island in Nootka Sound is named in his honor.

IS POOR HOUSEKEEPER

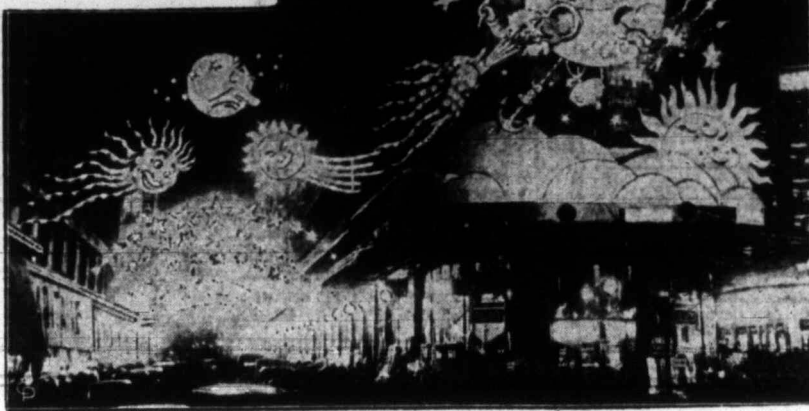

HAMILTON, Ont., Dec. 19 (P).—The Health Department hauled Harry Lazoo into court on a charge that his home was unclean and contrary to the interests of public health. Lazoo, very much hurt, explained that his wife Frances was the only one able to get a job, so he had to turn housekeeper. Judgment was reserved indefinitely.

Christmas Programme at High School Draws Crowd

Play in Pantomime, "Doctor of Lonesome Folk," And Musical Numbers Produced by High School Orchestra and Girls' Choir

Supported by an audience that filled the big auditorium to its limits, the Victoria High School concert, held last night, will benefit the Gyro hamper fund appreciably.

A clever little Christmas mystery play, entirely in pantomime, with the exception of the spoken prologue, was the novelty of the entertaining programme. Occupying the second part, it followed an hour of interesting music by the High School

Orchestra, under Alfred Prescott's direction, and the High School Girls' Choir, directed by Frank Tupperman. Both these organizations are a credit to the school, are doing splendid work in developing musical interest among the pupils and are evidently also attracting more interest among the parents.

THE CHRISTMAS PLAY

The pantomime, directed by Miss E. Cameron, was an artistic production, splendidly rehearsed, attractively and suitably costumed, and most effectively staged. William Inglis, who spoke the lines of the prologue, had to set the stage for the actors, whom he introduced one by one after proffering the Christmas message of "The Doctor of Lonesome Folk" in the instruction to "all your arms with gifts."

A nice appreciation of character delineation was shown by the majority of the young players, who were all first and second-year High School students. Able direction was apparent in the grace and correctness of the gestures, the grouping, the movement about the stage.

THE ACTORS

The actors were introduced in the following order: Policeman, John O'zard; thief, David Barker; ragged girl, Jacqueline Youngs; gossip, Louise Edwards; wife, Barbara Hutecheon; husband, Harold Holstein-Rathlou; dancer, Georgina Dowdall; man-about-town, Victor Eaton; poet, Gilbert Gibson; newsboy, Kenneth Pears; miser, Douglas Bailey; mother, Gladys Staverman, and doctor, John Hunt.

The play was presented in five scenes, the first, depicting a cross-section of life as seen in an ordinary city street (in this instance in front of the doctor's house), with the average selfish motives dominating human behavior. Succeeding scenes worked out the doctor's treatment for the prevalent ailment of loneliness, bringing all the characters to the forest of Christmas trees, where each found cure by laying some gift for another.

THE MUSIC

The girls' choir and the orchestra sang and played surprisingly well. Mr. Prescott has the majority of the instruments to be found in a much larger orchestra, and has developed a surprisingly good repertoire which the young people play with intelligence and a considerable measure of technical skill. Their numbers were, "The War March of the Priests," from Mendelssohn's "Athaliah"; the overture, "Scarlet Mask" (Zemcenick); the sextette music from Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor," and, for their last group, Liszt's "Liebestraum" and Schubert's spirited "Marche Militaire."

The girls' choir is being taught to sing from memory, cleanly on the note, and with nicety of articulation and phrasing. They gave a most pleasing succession of numbers, Handel's "Now On Land and Sea Descending," Rathbone's "Pipes of Pan," "Shepherd's Rejoice" (Mansfield), "What Child Is This?" and a group of four carols, "The First Nowell," "Good King Wenceslas," "Good Christian Men Rejoice" and "While Shepherds Watched."

Nahdin Young, who is perhaps the only young flautist in Victoria, and a very promising one, contributed a popular item to the programme in Titi's "Serenade."

AWARDED DAMAGES For Taxi Accident

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19 (P).—Mrs. Mary McLean Fraser was awarded $845 damages in Supreme Court today for injuries suffered while riding in a taxi last July.

Mrs. McLean had claimed $5,295. She alleged that J. E. McLaren, driver of the cab in which she was going to Lansdowne Park, stopped suddenly, while looking for additional passengers, and threw her to the floor of the automobile.

ACQUITTED OF CONSPIRACY

BISMARCK, N.D., Dec. 19 (P).—A Federal Court jury today acquitted former Governor William Langer and two other former North Dakota officials of conspiracy charges.

NEWSPAPERMAN HIGHLY PRAISED

Leading Citizens of Winnipeg Pay Tribute to M. E. Nichols

WINNIPEG, Dec. 19 (P).—Tribute to M. E. Nichols, managing-director of The Winnipeg Tribune, who leaves shortly to become managing-director of The Vancouver Province, was paid tonight by leading citizens of Winnipeg.

The active part which Mr. Nichols had played in community effort, as well as in newspaper work, was voiced by all speakers, and presentation of a desk set was made to the guest of honor as a token of the esteem in which he was held by his many Winnipeg friends.

Isaac Pitblado, K.C., presided. Those expressing appreciation of Mr. Nichols' work and friendship were Hon. R. A. Hoey, speaking on behalf of the Manitoba Government; John W. Daffoe, president and editor-in-chief of The Winnipeg Free Press; A. L. Crossin, chairman of the Community Chest, of which Mr. Nichols is a former chairman; D. C. Coleman, Montreal, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and W. Sanford Evans, M.L.A., who made the presentation on behalf of the gathering.

CLIMB TO LEADERSHIP

Mr. Pitblado recalled the start of Mr. Nichols' newspaper career with The Toronto Telegram, his subsequent service in the press gallery at Ottawa and his climb to leadership in the newspaper profession. Speaking of their long acquaint-tance, Mr. Daffoe voiced high tribute to Mr. Nichols for his part in the development of co-operative news-gathering. He told of Mr. Nichols' active part in formation of the Western Associated Press, which later became The Canadian Press, of which he is a past-president. Mr. Hoey, Mr. Crossin, Mr. Coleman and Mr. Evans all spoke of their keen appreciation of friendship with Mr. Nichols.

EXPRESSES APPRECIATION
Expressing his appreciation of the honor paid him, Mr. Nichols said he was not leaving Winnipeg because he loved the city less or because his faith in its future had diminished. He was confident Winnipeg would progress and the Prairie Provinces would grow greater.

Messages from those unable to attend the gathering were read from Premier John Bracken of Manitoba, Mayor John Queen of Winnipeg, and A. E. Warren, vice-president, Western region, Canadian National Railways, who is at the Pacific Coast.

SAANICHTON, Dec. 19.—The annual meeting of the North Saanich Branch, Canadian Legion, was held in the Orange Hall, Saanich, on Monday evening, with the president, W. Douglas, in the chair.

Reports from the various committees were heard and adopted, and the committees thanked for their service during the year. The president gave an account of the year's work and thanked the members for the support given him during his three years' term of office, and asked that his name should not be submitted for re-election as president.

The following officers were elected for 1936: President, W. Garrard; first vice-president, Rev. T. M. Hughes; second vice-president, H. L. Ricketts; executive committee, A. G. Smith, E. I. Jones, L. S. Daynes; delegates to district council, W. Garrard, Rev. T. M. Hughes and W. Douglas.

MAY TAKE OVER HEALTH CENTRE

The Provincial Government was viewing favorably a proposal of the Saanich Council to take over the Saanich Health Centre, free of charge, Reeve William Crouch told the Saanich Council last night. Reeve Crouch reported he had negotiated with Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, and had found that official "interested."

The Health Centre would be used as a hospital or as an after-cure establishment for T.B. patients. Plans of the building had been submitted to the Government for perusal, the reeve reported.

The musical instruments used by the Chinese are drums, cymbals, horns, lutes, castanets and flutes. There are three varieties of bells—po-chung, te-chung and pien-chung.

SPOONER OIL DEAL HALTED

Transfer of Leases for $20,000 Declared Invalid by Alberta Court

CALGARY, Dec. 19 (P).—A deal whereby A. G. Spooner, president of Spooner Oils, Limited, secured 250,000 shares of Spooner stock by paying $20,000 and transferring to the company oil leases on 240 acres in Turner Valley was declared invalid in a judgment handed down by Mr. Justice W. C. Ives here today.

The deal was attacked by Hiram Spooner, brother of A. G. Spooner, who sued the company, A. G. Spooner, R. A. Brown, A. M. Brown, Clarence E. Snyder and Fred E. Spooner.

Mr. Justice Ives ordered A. G. Spooner to return the 250,000 shares to the Spooner Company. He ordered the company to return to A. G. Spooner the sum of $20,000 and retransfer the oil leases to A. G. Spooner.

PERPETUALLY RESTRAINED

"The defendants will be perpetually restrained from submitting the agreement to the shareholders for ratification," Mr. Justice Ives ruled. "That the defendant was largely moved by the motive of control cannot be doubted," the court declared.

His Lordship found the 240 acres of oil leases transferred to the company by Mr. Spooner were without value to the company.

W. C. Fisher, solicitor for Spooner Oils, Limited, announced that the judgment would be appealed.

SAANICH FUND NEEDS SUPPORT

Registrations for Hampers in Municipality Will Close On Saturday

Registrations for the Saanich Christmas Hamper Fund will close on Saturday, Reeve William Crouch said last night. No further names will be accepted after that time.

The Reeve coupled with his statement an appeal for greater cash support to the drive being conducted by the Saanich Welfare Association for the hampers. "We have ordered the food to be placed in the hampers, and we must have the money to meet the bills," he said.

The fund needs at least $1,000 more in cash in order that 500 hampers can be sent out.

TIME GROWS SHORT

There is but a few more days remaining before the drive closes, and the Reeve urged all those who can to send along their donations to Scott Building headquarters, telephone Empire 9322. A phone call will be sufficient to register promises of cash donations.

A letter was received yesterday from a point twenty-one miles up-Island asking the association to call for 100 sealers of jam. A man drove up yesterday and collected this fine contribution to the fund.

PACKING SUNDAY

Packing of the Saanich hampers will start on Sunday and delivery will be commenced shortly after. The Reeve stated that the fund would be on the air over CFOT from 8 until 10 o'clock on Saturday and Monday nights, with Frank Partridge as master of ceremonies.

Yesterday the Saanich school children did their part towards aiding the fund by sending cash packages and other Christmas parcels to the schools.

The organizers expressed the hope that grown-ups would follow this example with cash donations.

Yesterday the Victoria Boy Scouts' toy workshop sent to the Saanich hamper headquarters two truck loads of new and repaired toys. These playthings will be distributed among 800 needy children in the municipality at Christmas time.

Premier to Speak On Ottawa Result Over B.C. Network

PREMIER Pattullo will address the people of British Columbia in a radio broadcast from his office in the Legislative Buildings, between 7 and 7:30 p.m. on Monday, on a British Columbia Coast hook-up, he said yesterday on his return from Ottawa. The Premier will discuss results of the last Dominion-Provincial Conference. Tomorrow afternoon he will open the new club building of the Army and Navy Veterans, on Wharf Street.

MANY COMING TO CELEBRATE

Visitors From Many Points To Enjoy Christmas Dinners in Victoria

For an Old World Christmas dinner, to see all the Yuletide ceremonies of centuries observed, an unusually large number of persons from American cities, Mainland and Up-Island points have made reservations at the Empress Hotel. Out-of-town visitors will form a large part of the crowd that will frolic in the hotel on New Year's Eve, reservations for which party have already been sold out.

Other Victoria hotels are beginning to benefit from Christmas travel as the city prepares for a record festive Yuletide.

FAIRY PALACE

At the Empress Hotel, the deft hands of the gardeners and electricians have turned the entire building, inside and out, into a virtual fairy palace, with highly decorated Christmas trees everywhere and garlands of cedar boughs and poinsettias hanging from the pillars and chandeliers in the rotunda and tearoom.

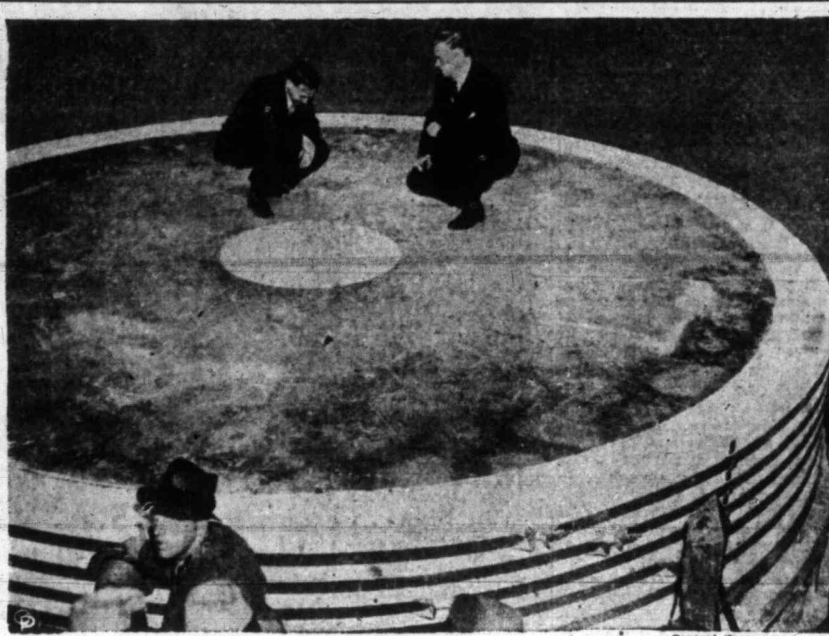

As in former years, the electricians have strung colored lights in the trees lining the front of the hotel and electric lights of every hue will outline the arches.

In true Old World style, A. E. Holmes, at the Christmas party, will carry in the monster bear's head, leading a wondrous parade of merry spectres, dwarfs and giants. Richard Little and Jack Robertson will pull the yule log. Ernest Rance will be the trumpeter, and Bruce McDowell and Jack Ellett, popular hotel pages, will be on hand.

STARS AND MANAGES TOO

LONDON.—Aileen Marson, twenty-one, who has scored success as the star in "Vicky" at the Garrick Theatre, is owner and manager of the company, too.

World's Largest Telescope Lens

A breathless moment in astronomy is pictured, the completion of successful casting and annealing of the 200-inch lens which will be installed in the telescope at the Mount Wilson, Cal., observatory in Southern California. This twenty-ton mirror is the largest ever cast and will bring the moon into closer vision than ever before. It also is expected to open up new vistas in the outer reaches of the universe as yet unsighted through the world's largest telescopes.

The Romance Racket

CHAPTER XXXV

"Very well, sit down and I will try to explain this all to you," Miss Miranda leaned forward earnestly and looked into Carol's face. "In a few words: My nephew, Horton, intends to have me declared mentally incompetent. He intends to have me put away in a sanitarium. He wants to get control of my money. He cannot wait for me to die."

"Horton will not be my only heir. I have another nephew, David, the son of my brother, Richard. David, to be quite frank, is my favorite. Horton has never been but I have tried to be fair with him. David and Horton have shared equally in my favors. I have never given to one more than to the other, but Horton believes that by his right of seniority he is entitled to much more."

"Some months ago when David asked my help in financing an exploring expedition to South America—David is an archeologist—I was surprised to find that Horton encouraged both the expedition and my assistance. I am not by nature a suspicious person and I saw no reason to suspect Horton of anything, but a softening in his nature."

"You are a remarkably intelligent girl, Carol, and I lean on you to find the way out. An old woman and a young girl make a poor defense team against the opinion of such respected men as my nephew and his wife, his doctors and his array for the persecution."

"Oh, no," said Carol. "You have mentioned the very thing that would make such a scheme impossible—if there is such a one—the doctors. Doctors would not risk their position by stooping to fall in with such a plan."

"Surely you are not so unworried as to believe that all doctors are honest?" Miranda asked.

"No, I'm not," Carol said calmly.

"But Dr. Harding is an able, respected man whose position in his field has been justly earned. You can trust Dr. Harding."

"Yes, I felt that, but I fear something else. I fear that Dr. Harding's opinion will not be sufficient for Horton and Alice if it does not agree with theirs. My dear, you don't know what people will do to get control of money. I have true cause to worry."

"I don't believe you have," Carol said firmly. She wanted to reassure Miss Van Cleve until she had time to think of more definite reassurance.

"There are doubtless reservations in your mind about me. You think that perhaps, like most mental cases, I have imagined all this. Believe me I haven't."

Even as Carol was reminded of the strange behavior of Miss Van Cleve regarding the pretty "Summery" clothes she had said she wanted, Miss Van Cleve spoke:

"Twice I have spoken oddly to you of something that must have perplexed or worried you: Clothes! My mind was not wandering then or is it now."

"I have evolved a plan—a desperate one. I know that if I stay here I shall have to submit willingly or not to whatever Horton or Alice devise for me. If David were here or if I were a few years younger, I should not find it necessary to resort to the same perfidy they practice, but I am alone, and I need your help to see it through."

"Do you want to tell me what it is?" Carol asked.

"No," Miss Van Cleve said after the slightest pause. "I don't want to tell you yet, but I ask you to trust me and to do what I ask, strange as many things may be. The first thing is that you take no one into your confidence. I shall give you certain instructions but as to actually carrying them out, I don't want you to do anything until you are absolutely sure in your own mind that I am as sane as you are and that you want to help me."

Carol started to speak: "If you wish..."

"No, please let me finish. I do not want to commit you to anything you will be sorry for. I don't want you to act out of pity. I am counting on your sense of justice. The thing I may ask you to do will take only a little time. When David returns, I shall not need you again. I will repay you well—in gratitude—as well as other things."

"Please don't speak of that," Carol said. "I want only to help you. However, I must say that there are things I must know. I cannot betray a trust. As you know Dr. Harding sent me here. I cannot do anything in opposition to him. Also, I must help you and I cannot connive against the others. However, if what you say is true and I learn that it is and that steps are to be taken that will be harmful to you, I will do anything in my power to help you."

Carol spoke with quiet sincerity and when she had finished Miranda said: "That is the way I would want it to be. We won't speak of this again until a move is made. However, in the meantime, I must make certain preparations."

She took a tiny key from her pocketbook and went to her desk. Carol could not see her manipulation, but a small drawer flew out of the side panel and Miranda took from it two small books. She wrote hastily in her trembling scrawl, slipped the paper in one of the books and brought them back to Carol.

"These are bank books," she said, "and they represent more than $50,000. No one in the world except you and I and the bank know that I have that money on deposit in a savings account."

"But what do you wish me to do with them?" Carol asked bewildered.

"Take them to your home and hide them in a safe place. When and if we need money, we will have plenty of it and when I tell you to get it, get all of it!"

"Miss Van Cleve, you must realize that I can't draw $50,000 from the bank. The bank wouldn't permit me to."

"Yes, I will," Miss Van Cleve said smoothly. "But this afternoon, instead of going for a drive, we will go for a walk and when we are far enough away, we will take a

CROP SHORTAGE CAUSES PROBLEM

Inspector of Local Branch of S.P.C.A. Attends Twenty-Four Cruelty Cases

At the regular monthly meeting of the Victoria branch of the British Columbia Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the inspector reported a shortage of food for stock on account of the poor hay crop of the past season.

Twelve new dog troughs are being ordered and old ones repaired and repainted.

It was decided to apply to the City Council for a tag day. Twenty-four cases of cruelty or neglect were attended during the month, and five hundred and twenty-seven animals and birds inspected.

The committee reviewed the year's activities of the society covering a large amount of useful work. The new committee elected at the annual general meeting will take office in January.

Cases of cruelty or neglect should be reported to the inspector, G.A. Allen, Empire 8391, or to A.R. Sherwood, secretary-treasurer, Empire 7556.

Concert Enjoyed At Rest Haven

SIDNEY, Dec. 19.—One of the most enjoyable concerts given during the year in the Sidney district was presented at Rest Haven Sanitarium and Hospital recently by the Warncliffe Trio, consisting of Mrs. C. C. Warn and the Misses Bebe and Nunie Warn. They were assisted by Frank Ivings, well-known tenor.

The artists were introduced by Dr. H. G. Burden, medical superintendent of Rest Haven.

Mr. Ivings' beautiful voice was heard to great advantage in the spacious lounge room, where the concert was held. Mrs. Warn showed herself as a skilled accompanist, and the Misses Warn, with violin and cello, played with a verve and expression.

The large audience showed appreciation of the varied programme of music offered. At the conclusion of the concert, Mrs. A. Courser thanked the concert party. Mrs. Warn and her daughters were presented with bouquets by Patsy Munro, Dorothy Rowe and Florence Sheppard.

MAY HAVE BEEN MURDER VICTIM

Foreman of Jury Suspects Foul Play in Thelma Todd's Death

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19 (AP).—George W. Rochester, foreman of the Los Angeles County grand jury, declared tonight that evidence he has gathered indicates strongly that Thelma Todd, screen actress, might have been a "monoxide murder victim."

Rochester announced he had issued a subpoena for Pasquale Di Cicco, former husband of Miss Todd and an artist's agent.

Di Cicco is now in New York. He left Los Angeles by airplane the day after the body was found. He said he was going East to spend the holidays with relatives.

"We are not pointing the finger of suspicion at anyone," said Rochester. "We are anxious to learn from Mr. Di Cicco, for whom a subpoena has been issued, whether there was anything in Miss Todd's life that might lead him to believe she was murdered."

TO APPEAR ON MONDAY

Di Cicco was asked by Rochester to appear before the grand jury on Monday when it will investigate the strange death of Miss Todd, found last Monday morning in her garage. The coroner's jury gave a verdict of accidental death by monoxide gas fumes from the automobile exhaust, but recommended further investigation.

The last chapters in Thelma Todd's tragic history were written today. Her body lay in state for five hours, preceding the funeral at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. More than 12,000 persons passed the casket.

GOVERNMENT UPHELD AFTER ADMISSION

Italo-Ethiopian conflict became known. "I am determined to see such a position shall not be possible again," he said, declaring, "we are prepared collectively to fulfil our part in every way."

Sir Samuel Hoare, who resigned as Foreign Secretary because of the part he played in framing the ill-starred peace proposals, defended his action in a stirring forty-five-minute speech. He said it was not fear of an Italian attack upon Britain, but fear of the collapse of the League of Nations and of a general war in Europe that led to the joint peace move.

LABOR'S ATTACK Launching the Labor opposition attack upon the Government, Clement Attlee, Labor leader, said: "If it is right for Sir Samuel to resign, then it is right for the Government to resign."

Other opposition speakers charged that the Government had "disgraced" the country and reversed its stand at Geneva by proposing to reward "Italian aggression."

Mr. Baldwin told the House that the peace plan was "absolutely and completely dead" and the Government would make no attempt to resurrect it.

Lord Winterton's amendment to the Labor censure motion said that the House of Commons held any terms for settling the dispute must be acceptable to the League of Nations and promised to support the Government in adhering to the foreign policy outlined in its election manifesto.

ENDORSED BY LORDS Without division, the House of Lords also endorsed the Government's policy after a stormy debate marked by vigorous opposition attacks.

Not since the eve of the war has the Commons Chamber held so large and deeply attentive a throng as gathered today. The Prince of Wales occupied his customary seat in the peers gallery, just above the clock.

Entering the House five minutes before he was due to speak, Sir Samuel Hoare received a sympathetic cheer from all quarters of the House. He took his seat on the third bench below the gangway, the traditional place from which a minister, in retiring, makes his explanation of his action. Sir Samuel resigned as Foreign Secretary last night following the storm of criticism the peace plans provoked.

"MY LUCK WAS OUT" "Gladly would I have given the House the explanation I now present ten days ago," he said. "Perhaps if I had been able to do so, I should not today have been speaking from this place. Perhaps today the voices of criticism would not have swept the country with so overwhelming a volume. But my luck was out."

"Ever since I have been at the Foreign Office, I have been obsessed with the urgent duty of doing everything to prevent a European conflagration. I have been no less obsessed with doing everything to prevent an isolated war between Britain and Italy. I have done my utmost at Geneva to mobilize world opinion against war."

"Yet, despite the practically unanimous opinion of the world, Signor Mussolini started his campaign which had been in progress several weeks before the election here."

EVIL REACTIONS "Every day the war continued the situation became more dangerous. There were evil reactions in part of the world. There was trouble in the East as well as in the West."

"Not the least ill-effect was the threat of differences and misunderstandings between ourselves and the French. It became obvious to the whole world that a great body of French opinion was deeply nervous of a serious breach with Italy."

"It was in this spirit that we followed the double policy approved time after time by the League of Nations: sanctions on the one hand, peace negotiations on the other."

"A fortnight ago the position was that the financial and economic sanctions so far imposed were in force despite many difficulties. At the moment the question of an oil embargo became immediate. It became clear that Italy would react violently against its imposition and would regard an oil embargo as a military sanction."

FEAR NO THREATS "Here let me be quite clear. The British Empire is not afraid of any Italian threats. We are as determined as we always have been to resist any attack which may be made upon us, and judging from our past history, we shall resist with success any attack that may be made."

"What we feared was a lightning spark which might set alight a European conflagration and which might result in the dissolution of the League...."

"I did not want to go to Paris. I sorely needed a rest, and I dislike intensely the practice of the Foreign Secretary negotiating in foreign capitals. Nevertheless, I was pressed in such a way as to make refusal impossible."

THREATENING ATMOSPHERE "It was in an atmosphere threatening war that the conversations began. It was in an atmosphere in which we knew that while the member states had mostly been prepared to take their part in economic sanctions, not a single one except ourselves had moved a ship, an airplane or a soldier to meet a possible emergency."

"For two days Premier Laval and myself discussed the whole field. Neither M. Laval nor I liked many features of the proposals. They did, however, seem a basis upon which it was even remotely likely that we could start a peace discussion. We were not discussing terms impossible upon the belligerents, but proposals that might bring both into one room."

Sir Samuel said the proposals were "much less favorable to Italy than might be supposed from press leaks a week ago."

They were, he continued, "in any case the minimum to which it was possible to obtain the agreement of the French Government."

TERRIFYING RISK "I have been terrified at the grave risk of encouraging Abyssinia to go on fighting in the belief that the League could do more than is actually in her power to achieve. I believe it would be the gravest disservice to Abyssinia to fail to make clear the limitation within which we are working."

"The proposals have not been accepted. We have done our best, but there is no basis of negotiations upon which Italy, Abyssinia and the League can meet together."

"Now that the situation is more tense it is necessary to make clear that all the attendant risks are fully shared by every member of the League. I was not and am not satisfied that this is the case. It has been repeatedly laid down that if risks are to be run they must be run by all. Yet after many months this condition has not been fulfilled."

ALONE IN ACTION "I have endeavored to take full stock of the situation and say this, of course, without any reproach. For three months this country has been alone in action, though the action was, as often explained, precautionary. We reinforced our fleet in the Mediterranean, our garrisons in the Mediterranean, at Malta, Egypt and Aden with troops and airplanes. For this we have received applause but no imitation. No one else in Europe moved a ship, a machine or a man."

"We stand for the League to the full, but the measure of fullness is and will be increasingly in future let there be no illusions—the measure of the League's own readiness. There must be a universal stock-taking of heart and muscle."

"If attacked, we shall, of course, defend ourselves, as always, and in a joint cause we are ready for a joint sacrifice. But there is and can be no other reason why we alone should disperse our hitherto limited resources which we may need in some graver emergency."

INDEFINITE COMMITMENT "If all this is not faced, this country will be entering an era of indefinite commitment with inadequate preparations and tardy associates, and will live in an atmosphere of war-like strain, alarms and excursions, until, its very existence is imperilled."

"But I see no reason whatever why we should not succeed in making collective action a reality. I am sure this Government will always do its share, indeed more than its share, as it already has done."

Concluding on a personal note, Sir Samuel said: "I say in all humility that my conscience is clear. I am painfully aware that a great body of opinion is intensely critical of the course I adopted, but looking back on the position in which I was placed a fortnight ago, I sincerely believe that the course I took was the only one possible and safe."

APPROVAL ESSENTIAL "It is essential that the Foreign Secretary should have behind him the general approval of his fellow countrymen. I had not got that approval, so without any prompting I asked the Prime Minister to accept my resignation."

"He should go with you," interposed Jock McGovern, left-wing Labor leader.

"I will say no more," concluded Sir Samuel, "except to wish my successor, whoever he may be, every kind of success. I only hope he will have better luck than I have had in the past few months."

Cheers came from all parts of the House as Sir Samuel ended.

As he rose to leave the Chamber, he swayed for a moment. Nearby members half rose, ready to support him, but he steadied himself, buried his face in his hands and went out into the lobby.

OPPOSITION'S SYMPATHY Moving the Opposition resolution, which demanded repudiation of the Franco-British proposals, Attlee expressed sympathy with Sir Samuel. He said the Opposition could not accept his being made the "scapegoat" for acts for which the Government had taken collective responsibility.

The terms of the peace plan constituted the surrender to an aggressor of half an empire in return for a corridor for camels, he charged. M. Baldwin was loudly cheered as he rose to explain the Government's position. He spoke with some emotion in referring to Sir Samuel Hoare, recalling that they were back-benchers together twenty-five years ago. The loss of his services was a grave one for the Government, for no Minister had worked harder to put into practice the principles of the League. No one in the Cabinet really liked the peace proposals, said the Prime Minister, which they thought went too far.

ABSENCE OF LIAISON He explained there was an absence of liaison on the Sunday when Sir Samuel was in Paris. The Ministers did not know about the agreement until it was accomplished. On Monday Mr. Baldwin received a letter from Sir Samuel, asking that the Cabinet endorse his action.

Before they had time to study the document, a press leakage occurred. The Cabinet then had to decide quickly whether to support or repudiate a colleague. They would have liked to modify the proposals. "The chief responsibility was mine," said Mr. Baldwin. "I decided at once we must support a colleague who was not present. I admit much harm has been done, which will take time to rectify. I am determined to see that such a position is not possible again." He said he was convinced the proposals were not supported by the necessary volume of public opinion.

"It is obvious that the proposals are absolutely and completely dead and the Government is going to make no attempt to resurrect them," he assured the House. The Government stood where it always had stood, with British policy based upon the League. Mr. Baldwin continued that he dreaded the reaction in Britain if she had to participate in a unilateral war.

Winding up the debate for the Government, Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, defended Sir Samuel, and assured the House that France had given Great Britain "the most complete and loyal assurances they will come to our aid if we are attacked by Italy."

If assured that all League members were ready to take their part in meeting an attack which might result, Britain was ready to play her part and agree to imposition of oil sanctions, said Chamberlain.

THE ULTIMATE SANCTION He warned, however, that it must be realized the ultimate sanction behind the League was force, and unless members of the League "are prepared to equip themselves so that they are able to meet any threat against them by an aggressor and prepared to use that equipment if necessary, they cannot expect complete success."

Hugh Dalton, who concluded the Labor argument, termed Premier Mussolini a "lunatic," whose hands are "dripping with a mixture of Ethiopian blood and British oil."

FEARS DIMINISHED

(Copyright, 1935, by Havas News Agency) PARIS, Dec. 19 (CP-Havas).—Fears that the Laval Government would fall as a result of the ill-fated Franco-British peace negotiations for Ethiopia were believed, in informed quarters, to be greatly diminished tonight.

Resignation of the British Foreign Secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, and of former Premier Edouard Herriot as president of the dominant Radical-Socialist party in France, were believed to be as far as present repercussions would extend.

HEARTENING NEWS

News from London that the Baldwin Government had won a victory in the House of Commons, heartened Government supporters here. It was believed that caution would be exercised in any attack upon Premier Laval, co-author with Sir Samuel of the unpopular peace plan. Probably there will be no debate on the issue until December 27.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT

LONDON, Dec. 20 (AP).—Newspapers of widely differing political views today agreed that the man who emerged with most credit from yesterday's foreign policy debate in the House of Commons was the "scapegoat," Sir Samuel Hoare, who resigned as Foreign Secretary.

Opinion in political quarters following the debate was that the Government had had a bad day. The chief features noted in these quarters were the almost universal sympathy expressed for Sir Samuel, and the scarcely disguised critical attitude adopted by many Government supporters towards the actions of the Government in general and of Prime Minister Baldwin in particular.

The Morning Post, Conservative, said: "The Government approved Sir Samuel Hoare's policy last week and it would have been more manly to stand by him now."

CAPITAL BLUNDER

The News-Chronicle, Liberal, said: "The Government was saved, not by Mr. Baldwin, but by Mr. Attlee (Clement Attlee, leader of the Labor opposition), whose speech was far below the level of the occasion. His imputation of the personal honor of Mr. Baldwin was a capital blunder in tactics."

The Daily Herald, Labor, agreed with The Morning Post and The News-Chronicle that Sir Samuel had given an able defence of his position in his speech.

The Times said: "Everyone recognizes that the resignation is an interruption and not the end of Sir Samuel's career. The Government disavowed hostility by withdrawing from an over-hasty decision and by its unusual candor in acknowledging the part played by public opinion in restoring the shattered substance of British policy."

The Daily Telegraph said: "Mr. Baldwin seems to have been totally unprepared for the violence of the storm raised by the peace proposals. It is difficult to understand this peculiar insensibility to what the whole community was feeling so acutely."

Red and Green Dinner Is New Christmas Idea

By JESSIE MARIE DEBOTH A Christmas dinner in RED—why not key our foods to the mood of the season when they are served, and work into them something of the color of the holiday?

Mother Nature does her best to help us do this, with her cranberries, her pomegranates, her plums and cherries and holly, all available for us at Christmas. In the warm climates the fireworks manufacturers supply us with tiny red and green firecrackers to explode after dinner, and in the northern zone the novelty makers and the florists provide artificial snow and small trees for table decorations. One can have the gayest Christmas dinner in the world for a remarkably small cost, if just a little planning and effort are given to it.

Since it is one of the great family festive meals of the year, let the Christmas dinner menu contain as many of the family favorites as budget and dietetics permit. If roast veal or beef muster more votes in your household than any of the fowl, if ice cream would win by a landslide over pudding, if cranberry sauce is preferred to jelly, humor the diners that one day. If you want a formal dinner for guests, then I suggest the menu and formulas given here. It is sparkling in color, flavor, and "differentness." It has the budgetary virtue of being quite reasonable in price. Much of it can be prepared beforehand—and its popularity is guaranteed!

CAROLS SUNG AT ROTARY MEETING

Clemen Welcome Two New Members at Annual Christmas Luncheon at Hotel

The Christmas luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club was held yesterday in the Empress Hotel. Before it concluded, the members were made the recipients of presents, with Clifford Denham in the role of Santa Claus. The poet of the club had been very active and choice appropriate verses accompanied the simple gifts distributed. During the luncheon, Christmas carols were sung.

Two new members were introduced, R. P. Malone, who has taken charge of the National Cash Register offices here, coming from Regina and Moose Jaw. He was introduced by Frank Doherty. Another new member was Albert Lindsay, introduced by John V. Johnson. Mr. Lindsay went to school in Victoria and resided for a long time here before going to Kamloops for the Swift Canadian Company. He has returned to Victoria with the company.

Christmas Celebrations on Air Over Canada

Radio will this year play an important part in Christmas celebrations when the Canadian Radio Commission's national network brings to listeners two outstanding broadcasts on December 25. From 9:30 to 10:00 a.m., E.S.T., will be heard the B.C. Empire broadcast featuring the message from King George. From 3:00 to 5:00 p.m., the C.R.C. will offer an elaborate programme called "Canada Celebrates Christmas." During this presentation eight choirs across the Dominion will synchronize in song. His Excellency the Governor-General will speak, and other important innovations will be heard. In the above illustration are shown: Centre top, His Majesty King George; centre bottom, Baron Tweedsmuir; top left, Wakeham Bay, one of the far northern posts, where the broadcast will be received; top right, the Peace Tower on Parliament Hill, from whence will come a brief carillon recital; top, extreme right, a skier, representative of Canadian sport. In direct centre is shown one of the airplanes which will be heard landing at Edmonton Airport. Lower left shows ships riding at anchor in Vancouver Harbor, where a C.R.C. inquiring reporter will interview the sailors.

DICKENS' STORY IS AT DOMINION

"Scrooge," an Adaptation of
"Christmas Carol," Currently
Featured at Show

"Scrooge," adapted from Dickens' "A Christmas Carol," which comes to the Dominion Theatre today, is ideal Christmas entertainment. Charles Dickens' immortal fantasy has been faithfully produced and has all the dignity, charm and characteristic humor of the book. In the title role, Seymour Hicks is magnificent and his emergence from the "grasping, covetous old sinner" into the kindly, humorous old gentleman of the last phase is a masterpiece of histrionics.

Donald Cathrop runs him close with a performance in the true Dickensian tradition as Bob Cratchit, and others who do well are Athene Seyler, Eve Gray, Huguette Wright, Oscar Asche and Philip Frost, who gives a remarkable performance as Tiny Tim.

He capped his colorful career by kidnapping a beautiful star right off the stage in Melbourne and dashing her to his mountain lair. This thrilling escapade forms a

This idol of youth is now at the Columbia Theatre as the star of "Border Brigands."

PLAYHOUSE Jane Darwell is one of those rare actresses who prefers to be tested for prospective parts. Sure of her own ability, and versatility, she is eager to compete for the casting opportunities which Hollywood offers. Little Stories for Bedtime

What Danny Meadow Mouse Was Doing
—By THORNTON W. BURGESS

All the time Nanny Meadow Mouse at home on the Green Meadows was worrying herself sick because Danny Meadow Mouse didn't come home. Danny himself was too busy with his own troubles to even think of Nanny. He had been trapped in a hollow log by Billy Mink and then Billy had been frightened away by Mrs. Hooty the Owl, who had then flown away to hunt for a meal in another part of the Green Forest. This had been Danny's chance to get out of that hollow log and he had made the most of it.

He had run his fastest until he just had to stop for breath and to rest a little. You know Danny's legs are short, and though he can run fast for a short distance he cannot run far without resting. He crept under a pile of leaves to recover his breath and think what to do next. It is hard work to think when you are out of breath. Danny found it so. When at last he had stopped panting he began to consider what to do next. Never had he been in that part of the Green Forest. He didn't know a single hiding place. This gave Danny a most uncomfortable feeling.

"I will have to trust to luck," thought Danny. "Yes, sir, I will have to trust to luck. There isn't anything else I can do." Just then he heard heavy shuffling footsteps. Now who was coming? Danny's heart began to go pit-a-pat, pit-a-pat, as he peeped out from under the leaves. What he saw made his bright little eyes almost pop out of his head and his heart almost stop beating. Shuffling along straight toward him was a huge black form. Never in his life had Danny felt quite so little and helpless. He knew who it was. There was no mistaking that great black fellow. It was Buster Bear. What to do Danny didn't know, so he did nothing. He simply crouched right where he was under that little pile of leaves and wished that he could shrink into nothing at all. Yes, sir, that is what Danny wished. Buster stopped and raked over some leaves with his great paws, at the same time sniffing among them with his nose. Every sniff sent a shiver over Danny. Buster picked up something and ate it. What it was Danny didn't know, but he did know that if Buster should find a certain little Meadow Mouse under the leaves he would treat it in just the same way.

Danny wanted to run. Never in all his life had Danny wanted to run as he did right then. But there was nowhere to run to. He didn't know of a single hiding place. Buster Bear hadn't found him yet and didn't know that he was anywhere about. If he should run Buster would be likely to see or hear him while it was still dark. Buster might not take over that pile of leaves. So Danny sat still.

SEES VANCOUVER AS AIRWAYS BASE

Former B.C. Flyer Predicts Expansion of Airport to Serve as Pacific Coast Terminal

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19.—A prediction that Vancouver's airport will, in the near future, become the Pacific Coast base of Imperial Airways Service, was voiced yesterday by W. Neville Cumming, Imperial Airways pilot, speaking before the Canadian Club.

After painting a stirring picture of Empire air lines, with services extending to all parts of the world, Mr. Cumming, a former Vancouver flyer and now with the Mediterranean division of Imperial Airways, urged Vancouver to continue its interest in its flying field.

Mr. Parkham, the village grocer, was gradually losing his temper with his new boy assistant. "Look here, my lad," he said, "for the seventh time this week I've caught you asleep in the shop. What do you mean by it?"

"Well, sir," replied the puzzled youth, pulling a much-thumbed piece of paper from his trousers' pocket. "This advertisement says that you wanted a boy to sleep on the premises."

FOG SHROUD HAS LIFTED

Master and Pilot of Canada
Demonstrate Ship Navigation by Echo

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19 (P).—The dense fog which has shrouded Vancouver for the past two days, delaying shipping and city traffic, lifted this afternoon, but before it cleared a splendid piece of navigation work was performed by two veteran mariners who brought the Empress of Canada into the harbor while visibility was less than fifty feet.

The 1,000-ton trans-Pacific vessel warped to her berth at Pier "A" at 1:30 p. m. after her commander, Captain A. J. Hosken, R.N.R., and Captain George Roberts, pilot, had given a demonstration of delicate judgment and steady hand.

When the vessel arrived last night from Victoria the fog was so dense it was decided to anchor in English Bay, where three freighters were also held until the fog cleared.

Today the work of bringing the big ship into port began. Navigation was entirely by ear and the guiding blasts of fog horns, bells and whistles echoed from Prospect Point bluff and the high land on the North Shore.

FREIGHTERS FOLLOWED.

The three freighters anchored overnight in the bay followed the Empress of Canada in. They were the Ms. Pacific Grove, the tanker Tejon and the freighter Ss. Dunelmia.

Shipping returned to normal both here and on the Fraser River.

where Ss. Hakushika Maru and Ss. Frederika Lensen prepared to sail with outward cargo, and the Ss. Forthbridge shifted to Vancouver. Coastwise vessels and boats on the Victoria-Seattle-Vancouver and Nanaimo-Vancouver runs were returning to their normal schedules.

on which they had been as much a two hours behind during the fog.
No serious traffic accidents were reported.

TWO OVERTIME TIES FEATURE N.H.L. FIXTURES

Bill Robertson Is First to Enter in Christmas Plunge

Veteran Aquatic Performer Files Name With Officials for Annual 50-Yard Handicap Event—Entry List Will Close on Tuesday

Victoria's "Polar bear" aquatic performer will plunge into the waters of the Inner Harbor Christmas morning at 11 o'clock in the annual fifty-yard handicap swim for possession of the Harbor Cup. For many years this event has proven popular with the mermen and mermaids of the city, and again officials expect to have a large number facing the starter's gun.

Bob O'Neill, who churned his way to victory last year, has already signified his intentions of seeking the honors and silverware for a second straight season. Up to yesterday only one swimmer had filed an entry slip with those in charge. He is Bill Robertson, veteran conqueror of local waters, who has won the honors in past years. Robertson will be one of the favorites again.

Swimmers are reminded that the entry list will close Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the Crystal Garden. The competitors will meet at the Garden at 10:30 the morning of the contest, where they will be afforded the use of the dressing-rooms. Following the swim, Capt. Harbord, donor of the perpetual silverware, will present it to the winner, and then the competitors will adjourn to the Crystal Garden, where refreshments will be served. The event is open to any swimmer in the city.

Colin McFadden will act as starter in place of W. F. Stanyon, who will be unable to fill the post. George I. Warren, president of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, under whose auspices the event is staged, will be official referee. G. H. Morgan, Jim McCague and W. H. Dyer will be judges.

HOPKINS WILL GRAPPLE HAY ON MAT CARD

Local Wrestlers to Appear in Opener Tomorrow Night at Tillicum

With three good bouts listed, tomorrow's weekly squirm card at the Tillicum gymnasium promises to provide plenty of thrills for the holiday fans.

Headlining the programme is Hans Schroeder, clever German matman, and Dr. Nap de Vora, from Providence, Rhode Island. They are billed to step eight ten-minute rounds in what should be a good exhibition of the bone-bending pastime.

Dave Johnson, Minneapolis, and Glen Stone, Olympia, will appear in the semi-windup carded for five eight-minute rounds, or the best two out of three falls.

Reg Hopkins, rugged local grappler, and "Legs" Hay, another Victoria exponent of the mat game, will meet in the four five-minute round special event and open the show at 9 o'clock.

SECOND APPEARANCE
Hans Schroeder will be making his second Victoria appearance when he climbs over the ropes to meet the clever Dr. Nap de Vora in the top bout. De Vora showed here a number of times a few years ago and is popular with the fans.

Johnson and Stone will be meeting in a return bout, and if it is anything like last week's match, there will be plenty of fireworks. Last Saturday Johnson scored an odd-fall victory, and tomorrow night Glen Stone will be in there determined to wipe out this defeat.

Stevenson Nears Wright in Race For Turf Crown
NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (P).—Charles Stevenson, battling to supplant Wayne Wright as the leading rider on the United States turf, today reduced the Reckburg, Idaho, veteran's margin to one victory as he brought home two winners at New Orleans.

While Wright was forced to remain on the ground, failing to obtain a mount at Tropical Park, Stevenson scored with two well-backed horses to bring his total for the year to 185, compared with his rival's 166 victories.

Edinburgh Triumphs
EDINBURGH, Dec. 19 (P).—Edinburgh University defeated Oxford University, 14-9, in an English Rugby Union game played here today.

German Goalie Punching Ball Clear

Despite occasional anti-German outbursts among the soccer fans in the Mother Country, the international match between England and Germany was a distinct success. A huge crowd turned out at White Hart Lane, London, and both teams played a clever, friendly game. Here we see Hans Jacob, the German goalkeeper, punching the ball away from the danger zone, while British players hover all round him. The English team won by three goals to nil.

Canada or States Will Win Olympic Ice Crown

England Figures Dominion or American Representatives Will Lift Honors at 1936 Games—Home Team Not Strong Enough

LONDON, Dec. 19 (P).—England, wanted to study Olympic possibilities this night. They were disappointed at the showing of Britain's best against the Canadians. With Leo Sergeant, former Halifax Wolverine, in goal, and the brilliant Lou Bates from Ottawa putting on a great show at defence, Canada held off the home-bred with comparative ease.

Johnny Acheson, star Toronto wingman of last season, scored two goals for the Canadians. Joe Walton also scored a pair, and the fifth went to Joe Beaton, New Glasgow, N.S., centre.

Tony Lemay, fleet French-Canadian youth from Winnipeg and Don Willson, St. Michael's College junior ace, were other stars of a Canadian team.

The question has now arisen whether England will call on any of the Canadians eligible to play for Britain in the February games in Germany. It seems unlikely, however, since the British Ice Hockey Association can select a reasonably strong home team and is desirous of encouraging its own talent.

The rule of eligibility for the Olympic Games is an elastic one. A player from any of the Dominions can play for England on a residential qualification if he has not previously represented his country. Only the British-born Canadians will receive consideration, however.

Alex Archer, of Winnipeg, is one of these. He has played on both the British test teams and may be named to go to Garmisch-Partenkirchen. Archer plays for Wembley Lions in the English league.

Remember When (Twenty-Five Years Ago)

After several weeks of match-making and scouting for boxers, the promoters of the Empress Athletic Club boxing tournament have succeeded in getting together one of the finest boxing cards ever announced in the city of Victoria. From the card it appears that each and every one of the bouts will be an exhibition that will be hard to surpass.

Of course, the headliner will be the bout between Joe Bailey, the crack Victoria West mitt-slinger, and Billy Hill, the well-known local lad, who will box under the colors of the Empress Club.

A match between these two boxers has been long looked forward to by the followers of the manly art in Victoria and attempts to match them previously has always proved fruitless, as the weight question was always a stumbling block. In the coming tournament Billy Hill will meet the Victoria West wonder at catchweights.

Final arrangements have been made for the playing of the intermediate and junior basketball leagues. The first matches will take place tomorrow evening and, thereafter, games will take place at regular intervals, the final in the intermediate series being held on March 22 and the last of the junior games taking place on March 13. It is expected that the fights for the championships in both cases will be keen from the opening matches to the conclusion.

WALSALL ADVANCES

WALSALL, England, Dec. 19 (P).—Walsall will play Newcastle United in the third round for the English soccer cup. The Third Division team today defeated Chesterfield, 2-1, in a replayed second round game here.

BLACK HAWKS RALLY TO GAIN DEADLOCK AGAINST CANADIENS

Two Final Period Goals by Mush March Give Chicago 2-2 Tie With Flying Frenchmen—Bruins and Leafs Play to Scoreless Draw—Luck Favors Detroit Over Amerks

MONTREAL, Dec. 19 (P).—A speedy Chicago Black Hawk team came from behind with two third period goals by Mush March to earn a 2-2 overtime tie with Canadiens just when it looked as if new blood on the Habitués' team had set them on the victory path.

Pete Lepine scored both Canadiens' goals tonight, the first in the opening period and a second period goal that was set up for him by Jean Louis Bourcier, who came up with his brother, Conrad, from Verdun, in Montreal senior amateur ranks, to play his first game in the N.H.L.

Jean Louis Bourcier was the hero of the second-period goal when he darted inside and battled a few seconds until he got a shot at goal. The defending Hawks were drawn toward him and left Lepine clear to lift the rebound over Karakas as he sprawled helplessly. Jean was hugged by his teammates and the crowd roared an ovation.

Howie Morenz showed all his old speed despite reports he had a price tag of $15,000 if Maroons want to buy him, and made the plays for both March's goals. Johnny Gottselig and Morenz passed the defence out of position for the first before Howie gave March a set-up pass for the shot, just after the two-minute New South Wales following with 83 mark.

This trio came back at the twelve-minute mark with Morenz in the lead and he passed out to Gottselig from the corner. Gottselig feinted Wilf Cude and passed to March for a goal.

Chicago dropped further behind Detroit in the league's American section as a result of the tie while Canadiens got within one point of the idle Maroons in third place in the Canadian division.

LEAFS-BRUINS TIE
TORONTO, Dec. 19 (P).—Boston Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs played seventy minutes to a scoreless tie tonight in the tamed National Hockey League game contested here this season.

Outplaying Boston in every period, Toronto were unable to penetrate effectively the packed Boston defence. Without Eddie Shore, suffering from a back injury, Bruins seemed content to take a tie.

Boston showed their only burst of offensive hockey in the second period, when Cooney Weiland, Red Beattie and Dit Clapper staged a few minutes of sparkling play. Babe Siebert, defence veteran, was their star, playing a rugged and effective game.

There were only four penalties called, Red Horner, of Leafs, getting two, and Andy Blair, Leafs, and Roger Jenkins, Boston, the others.

Boston—Goal—Hainsworth. Defence—Jenkins, Clancy, Weiland. Centre—A. Jackson, Beattie. Wing—Davidson, Clapper. Boston Subs—Graham, Sands, O'Neill, Kaminsky, Shannon, Cowley, Eddie Finnigan and Blake. LUCK WITH WINGS
NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (P).—Detroit Red Wings, aided by a couple of lucky goals, defeated New York Americans, 3-1, in a National Hockey League game tonight.

Pete Kelly opened the scoring with a fine angle shot early in the first period, after racing along the boards into scoring position. The Americans came back to even the score a couple of minutes later when Hal Cotton poked one in, assisted by Schriener and Stewart.

Then Lady Luck stepped into the picture. Aurie, Lewis and Goodfellow were ganging the Americans' goal just before the first period closed when Lewis took a shot and the rebound off Worters' stick struck Chapman, who was moving in, and went back into the cage. Lewis was credited with the goal.

Just before the second period ended, a similar incident ended in the third Wing tally. Aurie took a shot and Worters came out again. The rebound struck Aurie's skate as the players ganged the goal and bounced back in. Worters claimed he had been charged, but the goal was allowed.

GROVE HEADS MOUND STARS

Famous Southpaw of Red Sox Stages Remarkable Comeback in 1935

CHICAGO, Dec. 19 (P).—Robert Moses Grove, the $125,000 Boston "Jemon" of 1934, was the sweetest peach of the American League pitching crop in 1935.

Baseball experts, who said the great southpaw was all washed up last year when his buggy whip left ached with pain every time he tried to use it, probably will blink their eyes today as they gaze at the official pitching record for 1935. Topping them all from the standpoint of earned run averages is the same Lefty Grove.

Grove, who ranked sixty-third among sixty-five league pitchers a year ago, made such a spectacular comeback that he won twenty games, lost twelve and turned in an official earned run average of 2.70, or 22 ahead of his closest rival, Ted Lyons, of the White Sox. In 273 innings pitched, only eighty-two runs were scored off Grove's southpaw slants. In '34, he won only eight games and had an earned run average of 6.52.

FERRELL WELL UP
Although Grove is listed in number one position on the official averages, the hot-stove league can argue over the winner of the all-around pitching championship between him, Wesley Ferrell, who won twenty-five games, and Elden Auker, of Detroit, who led in winning percentage with a record of eighteen victories and seven defeats for a .720 mark. Sandwiched among them are other big winners like Mel Harder, of Cleveland, who won twenty-two and lost eleven.

Victoria Defeats "Y" in Net Match
Victoria Badminton Club defeated the Y.M.C.A. shuttlers, 9-7, in a Lower Vancouver Island Badminton League, fifth division match, played on the latter's courts. The squads broke even in the men's and women's doubles, but in the mixed matches Victoria won five and the home squad three.

Scores, with the home players first mentioned, follow:

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

Love's Greatest Sacrifice—When Sincelath Soonchet Singh, of Kashmir, died in 1843, 525 of his young wives committed suicide by voluntarily walking into his funeral pyre to be immolated with him. This mass suicide (suttee) took place at Ramnagar, India. Before the British conquered India, suttee was obligatory upon every wife surviving her husband. The widow was usually placed in a sort of decorated outhouse until the day of the funeral. When the dead husband was about to be burned, the widow took tearful leave of her relatives, and in the expectation of endless bliss in after life would voluntarily mount the funeral pyre, to be reduced to ashes within a short time. The English prohibited this custom, but the mass suicide caused by Sincelath, one of the largest in history, was perfectly voluntary.

ABERDEEN AND CELTIC TEAMS CLASH TOMORROW

Important Match Booked Saturday In Scottish Loop

First Division Leaders Will Tangle With Second Place Squad at Parkhead in One of the Most Crucial Tussles of Season—Sunderland Faces Strong Derby County Side

GLASGOW, Dec. 19.—With Christmas a few days away, the Celtic football team hopes to hand supporters a present in advance in the form of a victory over Aberdeen. The clubs, rivals for Scottish honors, meet in the highlight of Saturday's league programme.

A sell-out is assured for the contest at Parkhead, and if the Celts can topple the leaders, they will pull within two points and at the same time average the 3-1 defeat handed them by the Dons at Pittodrie in the league-opening encounter.

All leaders in the second division have the advantage of home games. Falkirk should not be over-extended by Forfar Athletic while St. Mirren looks too good for Dundee United. Morton entertains Raith Rovers and Alloa has the toughest battle against East Stirling.

ENGLISH LEAGUE
LONDON, Dec. 19.—With the English Cup competition pushed into the background until mid-January, English and Welsh soccer teams today made preparations for the heavy Christmas programme entailing four games in eight days for the majority of the clubs.

In view of Sunderland's defeat last Saturday at Huddersfield, the game between the league-leading Roker Park team and Derby County gives reason for considerable speculation. The County is tied for second place in the league standing with Huddersfield three points behind Sunderland and its powerful squad, studded with star players, will go all out for victory.

Huddersfield plays Manchester City at Maine Road and Arsenal is at home to Bolton Wanderers.

Erratic performances of Leicester City and Tottenham Hotspurs in the second division have led to a triple tie for the leadership, the clubs now sharing top place with Doncaster Rovers. The Hotspurs and Rovers clash at Doncaster Saturday while Leicester is at home to Burnley.

Coventry City, southern division leader of the third division, is at home to Luton Town. Tranmere Rovers are likely to increase their lead in the northern section at the expense of Barrow.

Louis-Gastanaga Fight Postponed Until February 2

HAVANA, Dec. 19.—Mike Jacobs, New York boxing promoter, announced today the Joe Louis-Isidor Gastanaga fight had been postponed from December 29 until February 2.

Jacobs made his decision after spending the day investigating conditions in Havana. He came here to determine whether political unrest in Cuba would make the holding of the heavyweight bout either dangerous or unprofitable.

CITY MEETS WESTS IN CUP-TIE GAME TOMORROW

Leeming Trophy Match Is Billed At Athletic Park

First Division Fixture Will Hold Local Spotlight Saturday Afternoon—Winners Will Meet Esquimalt in Final Round—Only Senior Game Scheduled—Kick-Off at 2:15

Victoria City and Victoria West, first division football eleven, will share the soccer spotlight tomorrow when they clash at the Royal Athletic Park in the Leeming Cup semi-final. The kick-off is set for 2:15 o'clock. In the event of a draw, overtime will be played.

The winner will advance to the final against Esquimalt, present league leaders. The dockers reached the select bracket last week when they handed the Saanich Thistles, last year's cupholders, a 5-2 setback in an overtime fixture. The score at the end of the regular playing time was 2-2.

Victoria West, in their last league match, turned in an impressive victory, and tomorrow they will be out to reach the Leeming Cup final at the expense of the Victoria City aggregation. Ernie Lorandini, who filled the vacancy created when Roy Barnes left the city, is expected to hold down this important berth in the cup battle. Since their last match, however, the green-shirts have been further weakened by the absence of Harry Storey, hard-working intermediate rank player, who has taken up his residence on the Mainland.

FEERS IS BACK
With the return to their front rank of Terry Peers, bustling forward, Victoria City will be strengthened for the cup-tie. Their line-up for the fixture is well balanced and should prove capable of giving the weakened green-shirts plenty of trouble.

With the Leeming Cup semi-final the only senior match on tomorrow's football programme, it is expected that there will be a good turnout of fans at the enclosure. Both squads are able to play good soccer and when they meet usually give the fans a good exhibition.

Some of tomorrow's teams follow:
Saanich Thistles (Second Division)—Hetherington, Parker, K. Gent, J. Noble, D. Noble, Stokes, Armistage, Lewis, Kennedy, T. Noble, Leask, Hayward, Geoghegan and Nicholas.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX MORRISON

I've just finished a round at the Winged Foot Course, scene of the 1929 American open. I played with W. J. Quigley, a pupil, and my good friend, Mike Brady, the pro. Some of you may recall how close Mike Brady came to winning the open in 1919 at Brae Burnie. I caddied for Mike when he made a visit to the Pacific Coast in 1911. Today he's hitting the ball as well as he did twenty-five years ago.

Our drives and second shots were seldom more than a few feet apart, but there was a great difference between his putting and mine. Mike took fewer than two putts per green while I three-putted three or four holes. My total was in the high seventies.

It made me think of the sixty-nine I scored over this course three years ago. On that occasion I sank putts from all parts of the green, the rest of my shots were decidedly inferior to those of the higher score.

A low score doesn't mean that you're on your game. The term "game" takes in every shot played from tee to green. Don't let a hot putting streak fool you into thinking that you are playing your best.

Soccer Activities

Soccer Chatter

By A.P.A.N.

Saanich made a very gallant fight of it on Saturday last, and for ninety minutes of the game they gave as good as they took, or better. There was a welcome change from their former appearances, when they have been beaten some time before the end of the second period. Whether the opposition had greater staying powers, or whether it was just the run of the breaks, the fact remains that the Thistles will no longer be content to be the butt of the others this season.

Campbell, their centre forward, more than atoned for past errors by the beautiful goal he headed in to beat De Costa and give his team a temporary lead. The two Murray boys, on the two wings played cleverly. What a pity they do not carry a few more pounds weight. Alec started the first goal which was missed by inches by Campbell's head, but Johnny very smartly twisted the ball off the goal line in such a way that someone had to roll it into the goal.

Esler played a strong game, Joe Groves had a regular duel with Stewart, who, however, made rounds them all in the overtime. The Esquimalt forwards seemed to though they were never going to take charge of the game in the usual manner in spite of the strong backing given them by Boyd. As a matter of fact, it was not until overtime that we saw the real dockers' team in action.

The Old-Timers began to kid themselves that they would be able to do something with Esquimalt after an overtime game. They should have tackled them on Saturday night. Soccer football should do still more for sweet charity's sake. Personally, quite a few of us would like to see one of our good games devoted to the cause.

Mr. Delaney, whose hobby seems to be the baiting of Victoria United, brought out a weird one last week. He seems to think that Victoria is the commission's pet. You remember that the Royals early in the season defaulted a scheduled game here, and were, we should say, automatically awarded the points.

Well, the Vancouver writer says that we must have some pull, because we asked for a couple of points from Royals and the commission gave them to us! Does he know of any sport wherein the defaulters do not have to pay for their unsportsmanlike action? Perhaps Royals should have shared the points they could not win? Hum, Ho.

Did you notice what a lot of football was played her last Sunday in the shape of charity games, practice games, and league games? There is no question that but Sunday soccer has arrived, and the sooner the powers take note of it and govern themselves accordingly, the better it will be for all concerned.

There is a gentleman named William Hook here who does in a quiet way a great service to our game. Have you noticed him carrying up and down the sidelines, game after game, wet or fine? Have you noted his impartiality, and that he is truly a referee's assistant? Have you noticed how many men, when offered the job, decline without thanks? Thanks Mr. Hook, more power to your elbow.

The new High School League, sponsored by the local committee of the commission, has proved such a great success that it is proposed to play it all over again after the Christmas recess. Mr. Cumberbirch of Victoria High, who took on the job of running it, assisted by Mr. McLeod of Esquimalt, and Mr. J. H. Lane, of Saanich, tells me that the schools have thoroughly enjoyed the series and that it has developed some promising players.

A cup has been given for the league by a well-known supporter of the game and thanks are due to this gentleman and to some of our referees, who, week after week, have given their services. All this is mighty valuable work, and the senior clubs should be greatly interested for reasons which should be obvious to any soccer fan.

Boy athletes hate the idea of dropping out, and these young soccer stars had performed to sign up on the rugby squad. Most of our best players in the city were at one time promising soccer players.

It is a known fact that rugby is considered the game for our local high schools. For many years soccer was almost unrecognized, and promising young soccer players by the dozens have been lost in the past ten years or so simply because there was no serious competition to be the butt of the others this season.

BRADDOCK'S COMEBACK IS OUTSTANDING

Heavyweight Champion Heads Press Poll—Mrs. Moody Close Second

By ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP).—In a year marked by a succession of the greatest comebacks in athletic history, James J. Braddock, enjoys the distinction of finishing at the head of the class for 1935. The most surprising development in the fifth annual Associated Press sports poll, as disclosed by today's tabulation, is not that Braddock is rated the hero of the year's biggest comeback but that he was given a remarkably close race by Helen Willis "Moody," the tennis queen, in the ballots cast by sports editors and writers throughout the United States.

MRS. MOODY NEXT
Braddock won on points by a margin not much greater than that which enabled him to lift the world heavyweight boxing championship from Max Baer last June in the Madison Square Garden bowl. The final count was 180 points for Braddock and 171 for Mrs. Moody, already voted the No. 1 woman athlete performer of the year.

Points were scored on a 3-2-1 basis with the experts listing their three comeback choices in the order of preference. Braddock was put at the top of forty-six lists, while

Mrs. Moody's comeback, was notable because it followed two years' absence from tournament competition, dating from her default to Helen Jacobs at Forest Hills. The fact that she was arrayed against Miss Jacobs in the Wimbledon tournament applied the perfect dramatic touch.

McAvoy Tackles Babe Risko in New York Ring

British Fighter Meets Middleweight Champion in Non-Title Bout Tonight—McAvoy Is 6 to 5 Favorite

NEW YORK, Dec. 19 (AP).—Two champions meet in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night, but no title will be at stake.

Jock McAvoy, holder of the British light-heavyweight and middleweight crowns, and Babe Risko, recognized in North America as the world's reigning middleweight king, swap punches in the featured ten-round bout. McAvoy has agreed to come in over the 160-pound class limit so Risko's crown will be safe.

For McAvoy the fight will furnish an opportunity to get a crack either at Risko's title or John Henry Lewis' light-heavyweight crown. Risko also would like a chance at Lewis' championship. Jimmy Johnston, Garden promoter, plans to stage one or both of the championship bouts the latter part of January or early in February. McAvoy is a 6-5 favorite to whip Risko.

Centennials to Meet Chemainus Cagers Tonight

Green Lanterns, Chemainus hoop squad, will be seen in action this evening at the Centennial gymnasium when they stack up against the Centennials, local juvenile hoop squad, in an exhibition fixture. In the opening game billed to commence at 7:30 o'clock, Victoria Merchants will meet the Terriers.

Jane Dixon Says:

IT TAKES A STOUT HEART AND A STOUTER WILL TO FACE A PAINFUL TRUTH—IN THIS CASE A VANISHED LOVE

(Important Notice—Will the young woman who wrote to me saying she was eager to find work that would enable her to attend college please communicate with me? An opportunity has been offered her through this column.)

Hope dies hard.
We go on hoping that the thing we want so desperately to happen will happen, long after reason has convinced us we are reaching for the moon.

It takes a stout heart and a stouter will to face a painful truth, to accept the unhappy conditions of that truth, to pull up our chins, square our shoulders and go forward toward new and brighter hopes. The sooner one stops reaching for the moon, the quicker he will realize the moon for which he reaches is only a paper moon after all to crumble with the grasping.

Dear Miss Dixon: I'm not a child. I'm a woman of twenty-eight. The man I love is thirty-two.

We met six years ago, and after two years of courtship became engaged. During these six years I have never looked at another man with an idea of sentimental interest. I was so much in love, and thought he was in love likewise.

THE OTHER GIRL APPEARS

Then came the depression. We had to postpone our marriage. His widowed mother became very ill. I worked myself sick caring for her until she passed on. I did everything to comfort him, he felt so badly. He told me he would never forget, and that he loved me so much.

We had purchased part of our furniture and were to have been married the 15th of September. The 31st day of August my mother died suddenly, leaving me alone in the world except for my fiancé.

He was fine until—two days after my mother's funeral he did not come to see me as usual. He sent a note instead. It was to break our engagement. He said he didn't care to see me any more, as he had decided we were not suited to one another, and he had met a girl a month previous he found more congenial.

You can imagine how I felt, with this blow following the loss of my mother.

What would you advise me to do? Wait, on the chance that he will come back to me? I can't forget, since six years of my life were wrapped up in him. Being so alone. I don't know what to do. Sometimes I feel I no longer have anything for which to live. Do you think that he will come back to me?—Mary.

SHE'S REALLY FORTUNATE

Answer: I haven't the remotest idea that he will come back to you unless there is some service you can give him that the new love either can not or does not care to give.

Congratulations on your broken engagement, Mary. I know you will balk at accepting them, but you're in luck.

The man on whom you have squandered your love is not only heartless—he is definitely cruel.

Can you realize how fortunate you are to have been forced into knowledge of his selfish cruelty before you married him? You've wasted six years—you think.

Those years are not wasted. They've been spent, but the waste would have come with your marriage to a man who might have taken up all your young and middle-aged life, and left you to find your way alone.

Honest persons respect honesty.
If the man no longer loved you, it was his privilege and his duty to tell you so. It was his privilege and his duty to break the engagement.

HIS ACTION WAS DESPICABLE

It was the timing and the manner of his action that puts him in the bracket of despicable human beings.

You gave him all: At the time you needed him most, he not only failed you, but he gave you a crushing blow.

Don't wait for him.

Even if he returned to you, you'd have a cruel and selfish human being on your hands, and always you would have the fear of his cruelty in your soul.

If you'll admit what the man is, and discard what you thought him to be, you'll charge the whole affair to experience and go out with a smile and a determination to profit by it.

HEALTH SCHEME IS CRITICIZED

Cost of Insurance in Province Would Rise, Says B.C. Loggers' Association

"Health insurance in British Columbia may start with its cost limited in theory, but in actual practice its toll on the industry of the province will rise, year after year in the same way as the cost of workmen's compensation has continually advanced," the Government is warned in a brief submitted to it by the British Columbia Loggers' Association.

In a detailed analysis of workmen's compensation costs, F. B. Brown, president of the association, says: "It is our experience in workmen's compensation costs that has prompted our view that the same situation may occur in health insurance. The Workmen's Compensation Board is at all times up against a tremendous pressure for increased compensation and medical treatment and, naturally we do not see how a health insurance board can escape the same influence."

DISCUSSES COSTS

To support this view, Mr. Brown quoted the report of A. P. Foster, C.A., who investigated compensation costs in the logging industry in 1931, under the authority of the Government.

The Foster report stressed the fact that the increasing cost of compensation was due in large measure not to increasing accidents but to the increasing time permitted for convalescence. Thus in respect of temporary total disability accidents in logging from 1926 to 1930, the average time loss increased from forty and one-half days to fifty-six days, and the cost from $95.39 to $134.26. This was the experience of all industries, the average time loss increasing from 34.69 days to 41.48 days, and the cost from $75.59 to $93.46.

"British Columbia should not establish health insurance," Mr. Brown suggested, "until it becomes a national policy all over Canada. Only by a national plan could the highly-protected industries of Eastern Canada be compelled to contribute as well as the basic industries of British Columbia which do not benefit from tariff protection, but must sell their products in the open markets of the world. Faced with such world competition, the timber industry could not afford to pay health insurance costs at present," Mr. Brown concluded.

Cab Drivers Refuse to Be Fingerprinted

VANCOUVER, Dec. 19.—Van-couver taxi drivers yesterday informed the civic finance committee they would not submit to an order issued by Chief of Police W. W. Foster which requires that they submit to being fingerprinted before they could receive licences.

On a five-to-four vote the committee adopted a motion disapproving of the chief constable's order.

What Today Means

"SAGITTARIUS"

If December 20 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 11 a.m. from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 7 to 9 a.m. from 6 to 8 p.m. and from 10 p.m. until midnight.

Do not concern yourself too much about the business problems or domestic troubles of others. They should be able to work out their own salvation without your help. Wishy-washy methods in household or business affairs will cause complications. This day calls for decisive methods, and unqualified statements. Curiosity may cause you to be drawn into a decidedly disagreeable affair. An excellent day for any promotional work, especially if it relates to real estate. Money requires care in its handling, for influences causing mistakes may prevail. Be careful where you put things this day, or you may have to do some extensive hunting before you find them again. It will be a great mistake not to do your part in sustaining the conversation at any social gathering you may attend. Married and engaged couples, and those whose love has just been aroused, must guard against impatience, for that is liable to be a disturbing factor in this day's affairs.

If a woman and December 20 is your birthday, you can develop a charm of manner that will assure your social success. Cultivate worthwhile people, for you are apt to be very susceptible to the influences of your close associates. You cannot afford to indulge in affected mannerisms. By being natural your gracious personality will be displayed advantageously. If you do not eventually become wealthy, you will enjoy its many advantages in an indirect way. Don't get in the habit of criticizing friends too freely. Unless you have something kind to say about a person, say nothing. As a teacher, missionary, artist, saleslady, author, playwright or professional hostess you may find highly profitable employment.

The child born on December 20 generally, when it reaches its teens, develops a surprising amount of initiative and usually becomes an outstanding figure either in scholastic or athletic work. Such children, as a rule, are very popular, and make friends readily.

If a man and December 20 is your natal day, if you do your own thinking, and do things according to your own ideas, excellent results can be expected. You are the type that ought to succeed as a professional man, an actor, manufacturer, journalist or salesman.
